The Industrial Revolution: A Very Short Introduction Robert C. Allen, 2017-02-16 The Industrial Revolution was a pivotal point in British history that occurred between the mid eighteenth and mid nineteenth centuries and led to far reaching transformations of society With the advent of revolutionary manufacturing technology productivity boomed Machines were used to spin and weave cloth steam engines were used to provide reliable power and industry was fed by the construction of the first railways a great network of arteries feeding the factories Cities grew as people shifted from agriculture to industry and commerce Hand in hand with the growth of cities came rising levels of pollution and disease Many people lost their jobs to the new machinery whilst working conditions in the factories were grim and pay was low As the middle classes prospered social unrest ran through the working classes and the exploitation of workers led to the growth of trade unions and protest movements In this Very Short Introduction Robert C Allen analyzes the key features of the Industrial Revolution in Britain and the spread of industrialization to other countries He considers the factors that combined to enable industrialization at this time including Britain's position as a global commercial empire and discusses the changes in technology and business organization and their impact on different social classes and groups Introducing the winners and the losers of the Industrial Revolution he looks at how the changes were reflected in evolving government policies and what contribution these made to the economic transformation ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly Our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable

The British Industrial Revolution in Global Perspective

Robert C. Allen, 2009-04-09 Why did the industrial revolution take place in eighteenth century Britain and not elsewhere in Europe or Asia In this convincing new account Robert Allen argues that the British industrial revolution was a successful response to the global economy of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries He shows that in Britain wages were high and capital and energy cheap in comparison to other countries in Europe and Asia As a result the breakthrough technologies of the industrial revolution the steam engine the cotton mill and the substitution of coal for wood in metal production were uniquely profitable to invent and use in Britain The high wage economy of pre industrial Britain also fostered industrial development since more people could afford schooling and apprenticeships It was only when British engineers made these new technologies more cost effective during the nineteenth century that the industrial revolution would spread around the world

Global Economic History

Robert C. Allen, 2011-09-15 Why are some countries rich and others poor In 1500 the income differences were small but they have grown dramatically since Columbus reached America Since then the interplay between geography globalization technological change and economic policy has determined the wealth and poverty of nations The industrial revolution was Britain s path breaking response to the challenge of globalization Western Europe and North America joined Britain to form a club of rich nations by pursuing four policies creating a national market by abolishing internal tariffs and investing in transportation erecting an external tariff to protect their fledgling industries from British competition banks to stabilize the currency and mobilize domestic savings for investment and mass education to prepare people for industrial work Together these countries pioneered new technologies that have made them ever richer Before the Industrial Revolution most of the world s manufacturing was done in Asia but industries from Casablanca to Canton were destroyed by western competition in the nineteenth century and Asia was transformed into underdeveloped countries specializing in agriculture The spread of economic development has been slow since modern technology was invented to fit the needs of rich countries and is ill adapted to the economic and geographical conditions of poor countries A few countries Japan Soviet Russia South Korea Taiwan and perhaps China have nonetheless caught up with the West through creative responses to the technological challenge and with Big Push industrialization that has achieved rapid growth through investment coordination Whether other countries can emulate the success of East Asia is a challenge for the future
