

It is very interesting to become a teacher because you need to constantly study and read information that you can share to your students. Some students are bored because they keep on listening to the same things that have been said years ago. As a teacher, you can only induce learning when students see or hear something new that can be relevant to their daily lives. I love to study and my enthusiasm would influence the students in my class.

I believe that a teacher's life is very fulfilling. A lot of people take business courses because making money is their priority in life. Although it is true that everyone needs money to meet their needs, each person has their own value system. I value fulfillment that comes from non-material things. It is very touching to see how a student becomes a professional who contributes to society. I have an old relative who is a retired teacher. Some of her students never fail to greet her or visit her because she has influence their lives beyond the lesson in the classroom. My aunt also derives satisfaction from knowing that she has been a part of shaping the lives of many people.

Teaching is a noble profession because the teacher devotes time and effort to develop lessons that would enrich the minds of their students. Teachers are also selfless because they can extend not only their knowledge but also their hearts to students who need their attention. A classroom is a microcosm of the world around us. Every student has a unique background that only a teacher can direct like a conductor in an orchestra. At this time, I am becoming aware of the struggles that a teacher has to face such as average pay and a lot of workload. There are also challenges like attending the emotional needs of students who have big problems in life. Despite these obstacles, I have resolved to become a teacher because I know I can make a big difference.
