Lesson 1 (pg.4-6) This year we will be writing and reading so many exciting stories. We are going to start off by writing stories that are all about ourselves. These are called personal narratives. Today I'm going to begin by reading a personal narrative by this man George McClellan. We are going to be authors and think of small moments that we can write about from our own lives.	Lesson 1 (pg.7-10) Yesterday we read a story called "The Night of the Veggie Monster." In this story the author used all kinds of details. Do you remember any? Today let's look back at our anchor chart and think about a story you could write today?	Lesson 2 (pg. 11-20) I looked over so many of your stories last night. I loved reading and learning that give examples I noticed as I was reading that some of us had a hard time keeping our events in order and filling up our pages. Before you begin writing it is helpful to touch each page and think about what you are going to write. Example (pg.15) Today I want to teach you that after young writers come up with an idea they plan by touching, sketching, and writing. I touch, tell, sketch then write.	Lesson 3 (pg.21-25) This morning I was thinking about the story we wrote as a class when I visited the museum. I got to thinking about George McClellan and wondered if our story would make a good read aloud. Read Aloud Story Wow, that was a bit short. Let's think of some more things I could add to this. Today I want to teach you, when you think you're done, you've only just begun. We can always go back and add more. I took all the pictures on my page to help me add more to my words. Think who, where, when, what, how.	Lesson 3 (pg.26- I was looking at some of our writing yesterday and noticed several writers did something very special in their writing. They included how they were feeling. Today as you are writing and think of ideas for your writing see if you can think of some you felt during emotions.

passion Starting Small Lauren Madden,2025-04-01 Many teachers leverage their assets to adopt changes using small but meaningful changes that go beyond box checking and encourage authentic learning and engagement This book celebrates teachers small steps by sharing examples of these excellent small changes Under an August Moon Dr. James A. Douglas,2025-07-22 Humans often gravitate toward toxicity dazed by love and familiarity This blind compliance traps them demonstrating how easily attachment can obscure clarity and affix them to unhealthy environments James Douglas s book Under an August Moon is a coarse and intimate memoir that outlines the severe undermining of a toxic relationship Beginning with the heartache of personal loss and moving through the rough stages of an abusive marriage Douglas incorporates a story that is as emotionally engrossing as it is brutally honest Furthermore the book grasps the sophistications of love betrayal and self discovery in a setting of small town life and societal intimidations One quality that makes this account distinctive is its analysis of the psychological toll of manipulation and gaslighting Here Douglas shares the subtle early warning signs that many overlook presenting a stimulating consideration of how easily love can morph into control His unrestrained narrative urges readers into the emotional delicacies of his journey from moments of transient happiness to the suffocating hold of abuse Fundamentally this book attests to stability and the intrepidity required to reframe one s identity Douglas s journey proposes hope to anyone entangled in the shadows of toxic relationships illustrating that freedom though messy is always within reach Perceptual-motor Lesson Plans, Level 1 Jack J.
