the imperialist and white settler colonial legacy on one hand and the pattern of political and socio economic development in the post independence era on the other To what extent and with what consequences does this legacy its political economic social cultural and ideological manifestations constitute structural limitations on the developmental momentum and ambitions of Zimbabwe Given the nature and history of the National Liberation Movement its class and ideological content how is the new state in Zimbabwe to be characterised in terms of new alliances and stances and in the light of the current configuration of forces at the regional and global levels And therefore what have been the achievements and pitfalls And on the basis of such analyses what of the future

Doing Good Or Doing Better Monique Kremer,Peter van Lieshout,Robert Went,2009 Development policies in the globalising world Macroeconomic Policy Farrokh Langdana,2009-04-05

Macroeconomic policy is an applications oriented text designed for individuals who desire a hands on approach to analyzing the effects of fiscal and monetary policies MBA and Executive MBA students who appreciate the importance of monetary and fiscal analysis will find this text to be right on target Financial analysts and individual investors who need to strip away economic myths and jargon and systematically examine and understand the effects of macro policies on variables such as inflation output employment and interest rates will also find the book extremely useful A unique feature of this book is the extensive use of specially written newspaper articles designed to simulate current macroeconomic news Each chapter contains exercises that enable the reader to relate specific underlined passages in these articles to the theory presented in preceding chapters This distinctive approach ensures real world applicability and supporting diagrams further enable the reader to relate current economic news to the theoretical material discussed

Technological Transformation in the Third World: Volume 2 Surendra J. Patel,2018-03-26 Originally published in 1993 this book contains 3 studies on Africa Algeria Tanzania and Zimbabwe The studies underline the difficulties which Africa has faced in initiating its technological transformation During the post WW2 period liberation from colonialism came relatively late and therefore many African countries did not have the possibility of participating in the rapid growth of global output and trade Debt drought and famine have put additional burdens on the economic conditions of the continent Adverse conditions and poor infrastructure have made the continent much more vulnerable to both external and internal disturbances and as a result many countries have not had the opportunity to make a real beginning towards their transformation

Agricultural Land Redistribution Hans P. Binswanger-Mkhize,Camille Bourguignon,Rogierus Johannes Eugenius van den Brink,2009-01-01 Despite 250 years of land reform all over the World important land inequalities remain especially in Latin America and Southern Africa While in these countries there is near consensus on the need for redistribution much controversy persists around how to redistribute land peacefully and legally often blocking progress on implementation This book focuses on the how of land redistribution in order to forge greater consensus among land reform practitioners and enable them to make better choices on the mechanisms of land reform Reviews and case studies describe and analyze the al The Power of Scientific Knowledge Reiner

Grundmann,Nico Stehr,2012-08-16 Examines how science and scientists influence policy making using the examples of eugenics Keynesian economics and climate policy Cyclones in Southern Africa Godwell Nhamo,David Chikodzi,2021-09-28 Tropical cyclones in Southern Africa also known as hurricanes or typhoons in other regions of the world is a hot subject for academic research This focus has been magnified by the need to consider tropical cyclones in the context of other global development agendas that includes the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and its inseparable 17 Sustainable Development Goals SDGs the Paris Agreement the Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction and Habitat III s New Urban Agenda The ambitious SDGs challenge global and community leaders to make sure development addresses the nexus among poverty inequality and employment creation as well as care for the earth and its natural resources and biodiversity The SDGs further present an agenda to eradicate hunger bring quality education and sustain water and sanitation The infrastructure development human settlements sustainable consumption and production climate change biodiversity and the ocean blue economy agendas are also pitched Lastly the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development encourages partnerships on delivering various programmes and projects at all spatial levels However as tropical cyclones continue to make multiple landfalls and ravage Southern Africa and other parts of the world the achievement of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development is threatened To this end this book addresses this gap by documenting the implications of tropical cyclones drawing examples and case studies from recent tropical cyclones such as cyclone Idai and cyclone Kenneth that resulted in catastrophic impacts in 2019 The book comes as part of a series with three volumes The other volumes include Cyclones in Southern Africa Vol 1 Interfacing the Catastrophic Impact of Cyclone Idai with SDGs in Zimbabwe and Cyclones in Southern Africa Vol 2 Foundational and Fundamental Topics Given the foregoing the book is suitable as a read for several professionals and disciplines such as tourism and hospitality studies economics sustainable development development studies environmental sciences arts geography life sciences politics planning and public health

Resources in Education ,1996 Increasing Production from the Land Coulson, Andrew,Ellman, Antony,2018-08-17 African agriculture faces major challenges with growing population pressure and the impact of climate change Until now food production overall has broadly kept pace with demand To maintain this impressive achievement production from the land needs to be intensified soil fertility must be enhanced forests and water resources must be conserved and land use practices must be sustainable over the long term This book shows what needs to be done and points to how best to achieve this The book starts with a brief guide to what plants and animals need to grow well how farmers currently use the land and the research that is being conducted on new agricultural technologies A comparison is made of productivity on small and large farms which demonstrates that contrary to some suggestions small farmers properly serviced can be as productive or even more productive than larger farms Subsequent chapters discuss issues of land tenure pastoralism training the importance of women farmers access to finance markets value chains and contract farming as a partnership between small scale producers processors and traders in agricultural products The final section of the book discusses whether a new green revolution is feasible or desirable for Africa The potential risks and benefits of dependence on purchased agrochemicals genetically modified varieties and multinational seed and chemical companies are examined A series of twelve broad policy proposals for achieving a sustainable agriculture sector is presented for consideration Fifteen case studies illustrate the issues discussed in the book Most of the examples are from East Africa particularly Tanzania but the principles addressed are relevant across the African continent Each chapter of the book includes references and suggestions for further reading most of them freely available to anyone with internet access A set of essay questions exploring the issues covered in each chapter is included to provide practical help for students of agriculture and their teachers Teacher in Zimbabwe ,2014
