How the Spirit Shapes Prayer David S. Luecke, 2017-01-20 How the Spirit Shapes Prayer answers questions about Conversational prayer prompted by the Spirit Why prayer can be so satisfying How a better prayer life happens Overcoming blockages to prayer After a major church planting disappointment followed by a serious illness Dave Luecke had a series of deep prayer experiences with God that awakened him to a new relationship He became curious about personal prayer experiences of ordinary churchgoers and did a survey of over 1 000 members in Lutheran congregations He found much more involvement than expected Three out of four reported they pray at least daily other than at meals Half regularly experienced the peace and presence of God Half called personal prayer the most satisfying experience in my life After holding monthly services of prayer for healing Luecke wondered what other Lutheran pastors thought and did with such prayer This prompted another survey with more surprising results Four out five said they had experienced or witnessed a miracle Two out of three said members reported a miraculous healing in response to congregational prayer Yet Lutheran pastors never talk professionally about miraculous healings How the Spirit Shapes Prayer reopens the discussion addressing many important questions about prayer and Gods response such as Can God change his mind in response to prayers Can God be influenced by multiple prayers Why is God so frugal with obvious interventions in natural processes Pastor and psychologist David S Luecke has an M Div from Concordia Seminary in St Louis and an M B A and Ph D from Washington University in St Louis He worked as Vice Chancellor for University Services at Washington and then as full Professor for Administrative Sciences at Valparaiso University before going on to serve as Vice President for Administration at Fuller Theological Seminary Since 1990 he has been a practicing pastor first at Community of Hope in Brecksville and then at Royal

The Power of Neuroplasticity for Pastoral and Spiritual Care Kirk A. Bingaman, 2014-04-10 Studies in neuroscience demonstrate that a focus on mindfulness meditation and contemplative spiritual practice has the capacity to increase our non anxious awareness and significantly lower our stress Not only is this finding of immediate importance for pastoral counselors and psychotherapists it will even necessitate a paradigm shift in the way that pastoral and spiritual practitioners approach the general care of souls The starting point for such a paradigm shift is an acknowledgement of the built in negativity bias of the brain and how certain beliefs and theological views may inadvertently reinforce the bias to the detriment of individuals and faith communities Once necessary for human survival the ingrained bias can often be excessive for today s world resulting in negatively disproportionate assessments of life events and human relationships To balance the neural predisposition toward negativity and anxious awareness it is necessary for pastoral and spiritual caregivers and those in their care to cultivate a regular contemplative meditational practice The Power of Neuroplasticity for Pastoral and Spiritual Care focuses on the groundbreaking finding of contemporary neuroscience that the brain is built for change across the entire lifespan It is designed to make the research accessible to and relevant for those engaged in the work of pastoral and spiritual care in order to help clients and congregants effect lasting and transformative changes in the mind and brain Through the regular practice of contemplative prayer and meditation we can literally calm the stress region of the brain in order to live less anxiously and experience more fully the peace and joy of the present moment The introduction of mindfulness and acceptance based counseling approaches will provide pastoral and spiritual practitioners with an important therapeutic framework to situate their work from which they can make more informed and effective interventions geared toward using the mind to change the brain
