As They Sail Samuel Hazo, 1999-01-01 With each new collection of poems Samuel Hazo explores themes of mortality and love passion and art courage and grace in a style that is unmistakably his own In As They Sail he writes with equal feeling and clarity about political and artistic figures and the complex synchronicity between life and art He is extremely interested in the wonderment and discovery that emerges in the act of writing in the movement toward wisdom that results from expression of feeling Questioning is always more important in his writing than answering Hazo has the ability to accomplish what he attributes to another poet Charles Causley in When Nothing's Happening Everything's Happening the poems borne of his pen help us to feel what we think He is able to achieve this felt thought without any trace of self absorption or sentimentality Whether Hazo is writing about Nixon Hemingway or Brando or simply about walking in France he finds the essence of language that gives rise to an emotional response In a time when poetry without emotion is praised and language is said to make sense simply because it exists on the page Hazo's clear voice and concern with the nature of love time change and the meaning of the past is uniquely refreshing

The Innocent and The Damned Wallace B. Collins, 2007-01-08 Kevin is a police officer and his wife Carla is a school teacher whose roles complement each others and blends with their opposite functions Kevin's role is to maintain law and order in his community and in the streets he polices while Carla's role is to maintain learning and behavioral discipline among her young students in her classroom Douglas and Lydia are Carla's parents Their function in their community is compatible with each other where Douglas a mail clerk and Lydia a nurse made positive contribution to their family and friends until sadly Lydia suffered a severe stroke and had a fall that left her a quadriplegic After which Douglas assumed the sad role of comforting his wife Lydia with his flashback narrative about the good times they had during their marriage He recounts their yearly vacation abroad as he tries to draw her attention to that happy time compared to her stay in a nursing home hoping she would get well of her serious injury Kevin and his wife Carla could not have known that they would become the victims of a viscous crime that took place before their front door They thought it would be a happy home coming from their second honeymoon and not be the victims of a car hijack Kevin agonized later over his violent reaction to the car hijacker Caprice with his family's antagonism to law and order of which Kevin had to deal with throughout the story until the Caprice got his comeuppance in a failed robbery attempt He has to cope with Caprice's friends as he does with his relatives whose illegal behavior drew his police authority in the community Kevin and Carla Brown are not as innocent of their past as they are apprehensive of their future and their need to succeed They function as authority figures where Kevin a police officer controls and regulates the illegal behavior of lawbreakers His job is to police the law breaker's antagonism toward his community and to society by illegal actions that preceded the youth's hostility to the learning discipline in the classroom misbehavior that leaks out into the community and to the greater society Kevin's job then is to uphold the lawful function of society by bringing such lawbreakers to justice Carla grieved with her father over her mother Lydia's serious injury that left her a quadriplegic Her support of her father revealed to Douglas how essential his daughter had become to him maintaining his equilibrium during her mother's nursing home confinement. She consoles him while he reminisces about his life with her mother and the good times they and their New York travel group enjoyed on their yearly vacation trips abroad. They enjoyed a good life until his wife Lydia's tragic injury cut short their comfortable life style. Douglas who worked as a Postal Worker and Lydia a Registered Nurse made their living providing a service to the public. Carla knew that most parents entrust her with their children to educate them as she is to monitor their behavior and learning skills. She saw herself held responsible by parents for their grown up actions in the classroom as she is with their learning from her what is good and what is not and teaches them how to learn. Her job as teacher often conflicts with students who are experiencing the wonder and mystery of their raging hormones that inhibit her supervision of them. Yet she persists to instruct and guide students to a learning discipline as grounding for their future. If she achieves this it will make her husband Kevin's role as a police officer easier if not unnecessary. Kevin's job as a police officer equips him to coral lawbreakers and brings them to justice by detaining them and put them in custody of the law. It haunts him nevertheless whenever he has to arrest young Innocents who have assumed the role of the Damned because of their antagonism to the rule of law. They have become sucked into breaking th

The Reflective Journey Toward Order Marion Montgomery, 2008-10-01 This book embodies a sequence of closely related essays which explore the modern poet's uneasy awareness of a tradition the romantic tradition with which he must contend. The author's premise is that the romantic age extends from The Divine Comedy through Wordsworth to Eliot. The roots of contemporary questions about the self and alienation are seen to extend at least as far back as Dante who is the first poet to choose the ego as a focus for poetry of epic dimensions. In the course of the study Montgomery considers the growing emphasis upon the self's becoming the focus of poetry until this shift culminated in the literature of the most autobiographical century in western letters the twentieth. Dante, Wordsworth and Eliot are discussed at length individually and in relation to one another as principal instances of the reflective poet. The critic also considers other illustrative figures such as Milton, Coleridge, Keats, Whitman, Pound, Joyce and Hemingway. These and other writers have traveled along the romantic road anticipated by The Divine Comedy. Finally the author suggests the road may end in a labyrinth so far as the contemporary writer is concerned. In his increasing concern with the problems of the self and of the mind the poet has been forced to invent new modes and techniques which as the author demonstrates grow out of his response to the psychological and metaphysical preoccupations of his age. Eyes of the Innocent G.R.R. their best to stay safe they knew it was only a matter of time before the hunters would find a way to get over the Brooke and find them As soon as Emily and Shadow reached Ervins house they      An Innocent Proven Guilty Michael Fitzalan,2014-06-02 Philip Hayward is a teacher who thinks of himself as Mr Nice Guy However due to his brother s cheating him out of his home he fantasized about fratricide When a serendipitous meeting reveals his brother s whereabouts he stumbles into his brother s new house to discover a body With his brother dead he feels duty bound to find out who killed him The police want him to help them with their enquiries because he has left a bloody footprint on the floor Phil sees himself like the fugitive Hannay in The 39 Steps the only way he can stop running is to find the culprit and clear his name It s time to call in some favours but has he really been good enough for people to help him a known murderer who had motive and who was the last person at the crime scene Can he prove his innocence before the police move in and who is Diana Deverill who signs herself Deadly nightshade and pursues Phil at every opportunity      Deconstructing the New Testament Seeley,2021-08-30 To deconstruct a text means to disassemble the various points of view contained within it and to let them stand fully exposed with all their own presuppositions When this is done the contours of these building blocks appear so different from one another that the structural unity of the text is called into question Biblical scholars will sense how close this process is to familiar methods of form and source criticism Without jargon this study sharpens and clarifies the analytical thrust behind such methods At the same time it offers a fresh rendering of redaction criticism inquiring after the often contradictory motives and historical circumstances influencing the evangelists This book thus provides an intriguing combination of the old and the new
