Sample Comments For Student Papers:

Response To Student Writing Dana R. Ferris, 2003-02-26 This volume synthesizes and critically analyzes the literature on response to the writing of second language students and discusses the implications of the research for teaching practice in the areas of written and oral teacher commentary on student writing error correction and facilitation of peer response The book features numerous examples of student texts and teacher commentary as well as figures and appendices that summarize research findings and present sample lessons and other teaching materials It is thus simultaneously comprehensive in its approach to the existing research and highly practical in showing current and future teachers how this material applies to their everyday endeavors of responding to student writing and teaching composition classes Response to student writing whether it takes the form of teachers written feedback on content error correction teacher student conferences or peer response is an extremely important component of teaching second language writing Probably no single activity takes more teacher time and energy Response to Student Writing is a valuable theoretical and practical resource for those involved in this crucial work including L2 composition researchers in service and preservice teachers of ESOL EFL writers and teacher educators preparing graduate students for the teaching of writing Teachers' Comments on

Students' Writing Jean A. King, 1979 Teacher Commentary on Student Papers Ode Ogede, 2002-09-30 Never before have parents teachers and other advocates for young people been more concerned about the declining quality of higher education One skill that many students lack when they arrive at college is the ability to write well The contributors to Teacher Commentary on Student Papers analyze some of the cultural social and moral changes that have altered the way in which education is given and received and they offer approaches that have assisted them as teachers both in evaluating the quality of student writing and guiding students to improve their writing Areas of expertise of the contributors include composition cultural studies English education literature writing and rhetoric The collection will appeal to both graduate and undergraduate students as well as to experienced and beginning teachers Research Perspectives on English for

Academic Purposes Matthew Peacock, John Flowerdew, 2001-03-15 This volume of specially commissioned articles examines theory and practice in EAP Reconstructing Response to Student Writing Dan Melzer, 2023-08-07 In Reconstructing

Response to Student Writing Dan Melzer makes the argument that writing instructors should shift the construct so that peer response and student self assessment are more central than teacher response Presenting the results of a national study of teacher and peer response and student self assessment at institutions of higher education across the United States Melzer analyzes teacher and peer response to over 1 000 pieces of student writing as well as 128 student portfolio reflection essays He draws on his analysis and on a comprehensive review of the literature on response to introduce a constructivist heuristic for response aimed at both composition instructors and instructors across disciplines Melzer argues that teachers and researchers should focus less on teacher response to individual pieces of student writing and more on engaging in dialogue with student self assessment and peer response focusing on growth and transfer rather than products and grades

Reconstructing Response to Student Writing especially when taken together with Melzer's previous book Assignments across the Curriculum provides a comprehensive and large scale view of college writing and responding across the curriculum in the United States

Peer Response in Second Language Writing Classrooms, Second Edition Jun Liu, Jette G. Hansen Edwards, 2018-05-25

Since the publication of the first edition in 2002 there have been two major developments in L2 writing and peer response teaching and research. The first is the increased interest in CALL and computer mediated communication CMC for L2 pedagogy; the second is the accessibility and viability of research on L2 peer response from all over the world. Both developments are thoroughly addressed in this new edition. Now that classes are as likely to be online as held in physical classrooms and now that a new generation of digital natives can routinely read and respond to what others write via laptops, tablets and phones, peer response as pedagogical practice is not just more easily implemented but it is more likely to feel natural to L2 learners. The Second Edition is a highly accessible guide to how the world is using peer response and serves as a motivator and facilitator for those who want to try it for the first time or want to increase the effectiveness of the activities whether via CMC or not. The volume includes 11 forms useful in training students to provide good peer feedback including a final checklist to ensure teachers have taken all the necessary steps to achieve a successful peer feedback activity.

Creole Composition Vivette Milson-Whyte, Raymond Oenbring, 2019-08-13

Creole Composition is a collection featuring essays by scholars and teachers/researchers working with students in from the Anglophone Caribbean. Arising from a need to define what writing instruction in the Caribbean means, Creole Composition expands the existing body of research literature about the teaching of writing at the postsecondary level in the Caribbean region. To this end it speaks to critical disciplinary conversations of rhetoric and composition and academic literacies while addressing specific issues with teaching academic writing to Anglophone Caribbean students. It features chapters addressing language approaches to teaching, assessing writing, administration and research in postsecondary education as well as professionalization of writing instructors in the region. Some chapters reflect traditional Caribbean attitudes to postsecondary writing instruction; other chapters seek to reform these traditional practices. Some chapters' interventions emerge from discussions in writing studies while other chapters reflect their authors' primary training in other fields such as applied linguistics, education and literary studies. Additionally, the chapters use a variety of styles and methods ranging from highly personal reflective essays to theoretical pieces and empirical studies following IMRaD format. Creole Composition, the first of its kind in the region, provides much needed knowledge to the community of teacher-researchers in the Anglophone Caribbean and elsewhere in the fields of rhetoric and composition, writing studies and academic literacies. In suggesting frameworks around which to build and further institutionalize and professionalize writing studies in the region, the collection advances the broader field of writing studies beyond national boundaries. Contributors include Tyrone Ali, Annife Campbell, Tresecka Campbell Dawes, Valerie
