Caught Between Cultures ,2021-07-26 The essays in this collection on Canada the USA Australia and the UK question and discuss the issues of cross cultural identities and the crossing of boundaries both geographical and conceptual All of the authors have experienced cross culturalism directly and are conscious that positions of double vision which allow the to participate positively in two or more cultures are privileges that only a few can celebrate Most women find themselves caught between cultures They become involved in a day to day struggle in an attempt to negotiate identities which can affirm the self and at the same time strengthen the ties which unites the self with others Theoretical issues on cross culturalism therefore can either liberate or constrict the The essays here illustrate how women's writing negotiates this dualism through a colourful and complex weaving of words thoughts and experiences both pleasurable and painful into texts quilts rainbows The metaphors abound The connecting thread through their writing and indeed in these essays is the concept of belonging a theoretical emotional composite of being and longing Home too assumes a variety of meanings it is no longer a static geographical place but many places It is also a place elsewhere in the imagination a mythic place of desire linked to origin Policies of multiculturalism can throw up more problems than they solve In Canada the difficulties surrounding the cross cultural debate have given rise to a state of messy imbroglio Notions of authenticity move dangerously close to essentialist identities Double vision is characteristic of peoples who have been uprooted and displaced such as Australian Aboriginal writers of mixed race abducted during childhood Passing for black or white is full of complications as in the case of Pauline Johnson who passed as an authentic Indian People with hyphenated citizenship such as Japanese Canadian can be either free of national ties or trapped in subordination to the dominant culture in these visible minorities it is the status of being female or coloured female that is so often ultimately rendered invisible Examination of Canadian anthologies on cross cultural writing by women reveals a crossing of boundaries of gender and genre race and ethnicity and in some cases national boundaries in an attempt to connect with a diasporic consciousness Cross cultural women writers in the USA may stress experience and unique collective history while others prefer to focus on aesthetic links and literary connections which ultimately silence difference Journeying from the personal space of the into the collective space of the we is exemplified in a reading of texts by June Jordan and Minnie Bruce Pratt For these writers identity is in process It is a painful negotiation but one which can transform knowledge into action Translation of Contemporary Taiwan Literature in a Cross-Cultural

Context Szu-Wen Kung, 2021-03-01 Translation of Contemporary Taiwan Literature in a Cross Cultural Context explores the social cultural and linguistic implications of translation of Taiwan literature for transnational cultural exchange It demonstrates principally how asymmetrical cultural relationships mediation processes and ideologies of the translation players constitute the culture specific translation activity as a highly contested site where translation can reconstruct and rewrite the literature and the culture it represents Four main theoretical themes are explored in relation to such translation activity sociological studies cultural and rewriting studies English as a lingua franca and social and performative linguistics These offer insightful perspectives on the translation as an interpretive encounter between not only two languages two cultural systems and assumptions taking place but also among various translation mediators This book will be useful to scholars and students working on translation and cultural studies China Taiwan literature studies and literature studies in cross cultural contexts

Caught by History Ernst van Alphen, 1997 In the face of strong moral and aesthetic pressure to deal with the Holocaust in strictly historical and documentary modes this book discusses why and how reenactment of the Holocaust in art and imaginative literature can be successful in simultaneously presenting analyzing and working through this apocalyptic moment in human history In pursuing his argument the author explores such diverse materials and themes as the testimonies of Holocaust survivors the works of such artists and writers as Charlotte Salomon Christian Boltanski and Armando and the question of what it means to live in a house built by a Jew who was later transported to the death camps He shows that reenactment as an artistic project also functions as a critical strategy one that unlike historical methods requiring a mediator speaks directly to us and lures us into the Holocaust We are then placed in the position of experiencing and being the subjects of that history We are there and history is present but not quite A confrontation with Nazism or with the Holocaust by means of a re enactment takes place within the representational realm of art Our access to this past is no longer mediated by the account of a witness by a narrator by the eye of a photographer We do not respond to a re presentation of the historical event but to a presentation or performance of it and our response is direct or firsthand in a different way That different way of keeping in touch is the subject of inquiry that propels this study
