SYSTEMINFORMATIK S C Holmberg, A M Håkansson, 2020-12-13 En digitaliseringsväg för att modernisera samhället. Allt fler av våra dagliga aktiviteter blir beroende av globala kommunikationsnät och alltså av den riktiga datorkraften. Obestridliga fördelar till trots måste man dock vara medveten om de offer som krävs i denna utveckling. Med kunskap och skicklighet är det möjligt att styra den framväxande samhälls- och teknologiska utvecklingen i en positiv riktning. Men vilka angreppssätt är bäst? Vilka är de livsavgörande kunskaper och färdigheter som krävs? I boken ger två erfarna informatikforskare sina svar på dessa frågor. Utifrån en syntes av teknologiska, sociala och humanistiska perspektiv redovisas en systemisk kunskaps- och läroplan för akademiska och tillämpningsinriktade studier i nätverksinformatik. Ett idealiserat studieprogram för en medveten och livs- och arbetsmiljö. The Pursuit of Knowledge Hans Zetterberg, Martin Ander, 2014-11-21 The main division of social reality is not class as Karl Marx thought but societal realms. They are six in number: science, art, economy, religion, polity and morality. They are the homes of knowledge, beauty, wealth, sacredness, order and virtue, all being cardinal values of humanity. This book deals with the community of people of knowledge and their passion for discovery. Science gives us a lesson how a societal realm is created. As a human enterprise, science emerged in collaboration and competition with religion. Two hundred years ago the universities picked their model from the guild economy in Germany and in time from the market economy of the United States. Today science is independent and global, more so than any other societal realm. The enormous success of medicine and engineering still has a big base at universities. However, their recent growth has its momentum in applications. Increasingly, current research takes place outside the universities in the context of applications. We take time to study the stream of technical innovations and find that it consists mostly of new combinations of old innovations. A full acceptance of innovations in society is found in rather short periods of history, marked by values of materialism and pragmatism. The Many-Splendored Society: 4 Hans L. Zetterberg, 2013-04-13 This is a book about the societal realm of science. The main division of social reality is not class as Karl Marx thought but societal realms. They are six in number: science, art, economy, religion, polity and morality. They are the homes of knowledge, beauty, wealth, sacredness, order and virtue, all being cardinal values of humanity. This book deals with the community of people of knowledge and their passion for discovery and their relations to other societal realms. We get a lesson telling how a societal realm is created. Malaysian Crossings Cheow Thia Chan, 2022-12-27 Malaysian Chinese Mahua literature is marginalized on several fronts. In the international literary space which privileges the West, Malaysia is considered remote. The institutions of modern Chinese literature favor mainland China, Taiwan, and Hong Kong. Within Malaysia, only texts in Malay, the national language, are considered national literature by the state. However, Mahua authors have produced creative and thought-provoking works that have won growing critical recognition, showing Malaysia to be a laboratory for imaginative Chinese writing. Highlighting Mahua literature's distinctive mode of evolution, Cheow Thia Chan demonstrates that authors' grasp of their marginality in the world Chinese literary space has been the impetus for, rather than a barrier to, aesthetic inventiveness. He foregrounds the historical links between Malaysia and other Chinese-speaking regions, tracing how Mahua writers engage in the worlding of modern Chinese literature by navigating interconnected literary spaces. Focusing on writers including Lin Cantian, Han Suyin, Wang Anyi, and Li Yongping, whose works craft signature literary languages, Chan examines narrative representations of multilingual social realities and authorial reflections on colonial Malaya or independent Malaysia as valid literary terrain. Delineating the inter-Asian crossings of Mahua literary production, physical journeys, interactions among social groups, and mindset shifts from the 1930s to the 2000s, he contends that new perspectives from the periphery are essential to understanding the globalization of modern Chinese literature. By emphasizing the inner diversities and connected histories in the margins, Malaysian Crossings offers a powerful argument for remapping global Chinese literature and world literature.
