a Sustainable Future Claude-Hélène Mayer, Elisabeth Vanderheiden, Orna Braun-Lewensohn, Gila Chen, Kiyoko Sueda, Brightness Mangolothi, Saba Safdar, Soyeon Kim, 2023-07-08 This edited volume focuses on women's empowerment for a sustainable future. It takes cultural and transcultural and positive psychology perspectives into consideration and explores the topic of women's empowerment from diverse stances across social strata, cultural divides as well as economic and political divisions. It addresses the critique of the overly Western focus of positive psychology on this topic by adopting a transnational and transcultural lens and by taking non-WEIRD (Western Educated Industrialized Rich Democratic) samples into in-depth consideration. The chapters therefore focus on women from diverse socio-cultural, political, socio-economic backgrounds and discuss their ways of empowering others and being empowered. They also discuss related positive psychology constructs such as coping, resilience, transformation, growth, leadership, creativity, identity, development, sustainable action as well as positive socio-economic, political, and eco-sustainable thought and action. The volume as a whole looks at women's leadership as a factor of empowerment. A further fundamental assumption is that women's empowerment is needed to create a sustainable future at micro, meso, and macro levels which presumes safety, peace, ecological considerations, and compassionate leadership.

The Reliability of Generating Data Klaus Krippendorff, 2022-12-23 All data are the result of human actions, whether by experimentations, observations, or declarations. As such, the presumption of knowing what data are about is subject to imperfections that can affect the validity of research efforts. With calls for data-based research comes the need to assure the reliability of generated data The reliability of converting texts into analyzable data has become a burning issue in several areas However this issue has been met by only a few limited and sometimes misleading measures of the extent to which data can be trusted as surrogates of the phenomena of analytical interests The statistic proposed by the author Krippendorff's Alpha is widely used in the social sciences not only where human judgements are involved but also where measurements are compared The Reliability of Generating Data expands on the author's seminal work in content analysis and develops methods for assessing the reliability of the kind of data that previously defied evaluations for this purpose It opens with a discussion of the epistemology of reliable data then presents the most basic alpha coefficient for the single valued coding of predefined units This largely familiar way of measuring reliability provides the platform for the succeeding chapters which start with an overview of alternative coefficients and then expand alpha one quality after another including to cope with the reliabilities of multi valued coding segmenting texts into meaningful units big data and information retrievals It also includes a chapter on how to diagnose and remedy imperfections and one on applicable standards all converging on the statistical issues of the reliability of generating data Features Provides an overview of methods for assessing the reliability of generating data Expands a statistic proposed by the author already widely used in the social sciences Includes many easy to follow numerical examples to illustrate the measures Written to be useful to beginning and advanced researchers from many disciplines notably linguistics sociology psychometric and educational research and medical science
