Paxton,2018-01-19 What would you say to a deceased loved one if they could come back for one day What if you can t just move on from grief At Home with Grief Continued Bonds with the Deceased chronicles Blake Paxton s autoethnographic study of his continued relationship with his deceased mother In the 90s Silverman Klass and Nickman argued that after the death of a loved one the bond does not have to be broken and the bereaved can find many ways to connect with memories of the dead Building on their work many other bereavement scholars have discussed the importance of not treating these relationships as pathological and have suggested that more research is needed in this area of grief studies However very few studies have addressed the communal and everyday subjective experiences of continuing bonds with the deceased as well as how our relationship with our grief changes in the long term In this book Blake Paxton shows how a community in southern Illinois continues a relationship with one deceased individual more than ten years after her death Through this gripping autoethnographic account of his mother s struggles with a rare cancer her death and his struggles with sexuality he poses possibilities of what might happen when cultural prescriptions for grief are challenged and how continuing bonds with the dead may help us continue or restore broken bonds with the living      Retelling the Stories of Our Lives: Everyday Narrative

Therapy to Draw Inspiration and Transform Experience David Denborough,2014-01-06 Our lives and their pathways are not fixed in stone instead they are shaped by story If we tell stories that emphasize only desolation then we become weaker If we tell stories in ways that make us stronger we can soothe our losses and erase sorrows Learning how to re envision the stories we tell about ourselves can make an enormous difference in the ways we live our lives Drawing on wisdom form the field of narrative therapy this book will help people rewrite and retell the stories of their lives reclaiming and celebrating experiences in the face of specific challenges such as trauma abuse personal failure grief and aging Readers are introduced to key ideas of narrative practice like externalizing problems the person is not the problem the problem is the problem and the concept of re membering one s life Easy to understand examples and exercises help readers make these techniques their own leading them on a path to reclaim their past and re envision their future Publisher s description      Systemic and

Lorraine Hedtke,John Winslade,2016-07-15 Many books on grief lay out a model to be followed either for bereaved persons to live through or for professionals to practice and usually follow some familiar prescriptions for what people should do to reach an accommodation with loss The Crafting of Grief is different it focuses on conversations that help people chart their own path through grief Authors Hedtke and Winslade argue convincingly that therapists and counselors can support people more by helping them craft their own responses to bereavement rather than trying to squeeze experiences into a model In the pages of this book readers will learn how to develop lines of inquiry based on the concept of continuing bonds and they ll discover ways to use these ideas to help the bereaved craft stories that remember loved ones lives     Narrative
