W. Hudson, 2019-06-01 Transformative Education for the Second Renaissance follows educator John PW Hudson through a personal and professional journey that led him to respond to what he sees as underlying fissures in the bedrock of educational practice At the height of his career he was seconded by the Richmond BC Canada school district to teach a demonstration class in the Nanashan Xian Middle School in Shenzhen China at the request of the school and philanthropists Joe and Margaret Li initiators of the project and sponsors His assignment was to demonstrate and explain Western teaching methods to educators and other interested parties including university students and their professors from various parts of China local and national education officials teachers at the Nanshan Xian middle school where he lived and taught for two years and civic officials as well Most days a television camera was in the room and several adults sitting watching Throughout his career Hudson was intensely interested in how children learn how and why they thrive or fail educational philosophy and how educational infrastructures and practices impact learners and professionals alike After teaching Music English and business education for twenty years at the junior high school level Hudson turned his sights to the elementary level and taught intermediate classroom for the last thirteen years before going to China All of these experiences left him with lingering questions which came into sharp focus in China where traditional practices are entrenched Primarily Transformative Education for the Second Renaissance explores history philosophy research politics and real human stories to encapsulate the driving forces of education that need adjustment particularly assessment Hudson describes the transition from analog to digital as the Second Renaissance and how findings in brain research characterize how our understanding of learning has changed in modern practice from transmissive to transformative Not a traditional academic treatise Hudson s book reads more like a coffee shop discussion but the reasoning and conclusions will resonate with experienced educators Hudson s goal is to kick start discussion about the changes he proposes and frame a narrative to move education into our rapidly changing educational landscape This is not a book on methods it is a foundational work that Hudson hopes will lead to lively discussion and critical debate
