Sustainable School Transformation David Crossley, 2013-10-30 Sustainable School Transformation An Inside Out School Led Approach explores how we can best build a truly world class education system It presents a theoretical and practical case for an alternative approach that combines the rigour of traditional top down accountability models with the engagement and buy in of school led inside out approaches a combination which can be applied to any school in any context internationally David Crossley and a range of practitioners and academics draw on their extensive experience of past approaches to school improvement in the UK and US Rather than reject top down accountability models they explore new ways of developing them alongside inside out school led approaches that really do motivate those in our schools who in the final analysis have to deliver the aspirations of politicians and our wider societies for all our young people The book is based on the premise that Peter Drucker's notion of addictive achievement discussed in relation to students in Post Capitalist Society applies to staff and schools too and if we want to build a truly world class system it will only be achieved through the motivation and resultant efforts of all those in our schools

The Visual Turn and the Transformation of the Textbook

James A. LaSpina, 2014-04-04 Is the emerging digital multimedia culture of today transforming the textbook or forever displacing it As new media of transmission enter the classroom the traditional textbook is now caught up in a dialogue reshaping the textual boundaries of the book and with it the traditional modes of cognition and learning which are bound more to language than to visual form Most of the important work in the past two decades in the field of curriculum has focused on the culture of the textbook A rich literature has evolved around textbooks as the traditional object of instructional activity This volume is an important contribution to this literature which focuses on the actual making of a textbook This design process serves as a metaphor that suggests new paradigms of learning and instruction in which text content is but one component in a multidimensional information space The Visual Turn is an exploration along the border of this new learning space transforming the traditional center of instruction in the classroom
