

A man and a woman are posed in a modern, dimly lit interior. The woman, with long dark hair, is seated on a grey sofa, wearing a dark blazer and skirt. She has her hands resting on the man's shoulders. The man, with short dark hair and a beard, is seated in front of her, wearing a dark sweater and a watch on his left wrist. He is looking directly at the camera. The background features a large window with a view of a city skyline at night, and a patterned rug is visible on the floor.

Europe as the Other Judith Becker,Brian

Stanley,2013-12-11 There has been much academic debate over recent years on Europe defining itself over against the Other This volume asks from the opposite perspective What views did non Europeans hold of European Christianity In this way the volume turns the agency of definition over to non Europeans Over the last centuries the contacts between Europeans and non Europeans have been diverse and complex Non Europeans encountered Europeans as colonialists traders missionaries and travellers Most of those Europeans were Christians or were perceived as Christians Therefore in terms of religion Europe was often identified with Christianity Europeans thus also conveyed a certain image of Christianity to non European countries At the same time non Europeans increasingly travelled to Europe and experienced a kind of Christianity that often did not conform to the picture they had formed earlier Their descriptions of European Christianity ranged from sympathetic acceptance to harsh criticism The contributions in this volume reveal the breadth of these opinions They also show that there is no clear line of division between insiders and outsiders but that Europeans could sometimes perceive themselves as being outsiders in their own culture while non Europeans could adopt insider perspectives Furthermore from these encounters new religious and cultural expressions could emerge

An Introduction to Animals and Visual Culture Randy Malamud,2012-05-30 How and why do people frame animals so pervasively and what are the ramifications of this habit For animals being put into a cultural frame a film a website a pornographic tableau an advertisement a cave drawing a zoo means being taken out of their natural contexts leaving them somehow displaced and decontextualized Human vision of the animal equates to power over the animal We envision ourselves as monarchs of all we survey but our dismal record of polluting and destroying vast swaths of nature shows that we are indeed not masters of the ecosphere A more ethically accurate stance in our relationship to animals should thus challenge the omnipotence of our visual access to them involve a suspension of or relief from the exercise of our will What then is agency and why has it occupied such a central place in theories of the human Automatic Religion explores an unlikely series of episodes from the end of the nineteenth century when crucial ideas related to automatism and in a different realm the study of religion were both being born Paul Christopher Johnson draws on years of archival and ethnographic research in Brazil and France to explore the crucial boundaries being drawn at the time between humans nearhumans and automata As agency came to take on a more central place in the philosophical moral and legal traditions of the West certain classes of people were excluded as less than human Tracking the circulation of ideas across the Atlantic Johnson tests those boundaries revealing how they were constructed on largely gendered and racial foundations In the process he reanimates one of the most mysterious and yet foundational questions in trans Atlantic thought what is agency A Social History of the Deccan, 1300-1761 Richard M.
