John Banville Maigret wouldn't have admitted that what intrigued him most was the victim's face. All he had seen of it so far was one profile. Was it the bruises that gave her that sullen air? She looked like a bad tempered little girl. Her combed back brown hair was very smooth but naturally wavy. The rain had diluted her make up a little and instead of making her older or uglier it made her younger and more appealing. Maigret and his fellow inspector Lognon find themselves trying to outmanoeuvre each other when they investigate the case of a mysterious young woman whose new life in Paris is tragically cut short. Eyes half closed, head tilted against the back of his seat, he seemed not to be thinking as the plane flew over a thick carpet of bright clouds. In reality he was making an effort to bring names and shadowy figures to life, names and figures that even this morning had been as unknown to him as the inhabitants of another planet.
