Prisons & Prisoners Constance Lytton, 2020-08-05 Reproduction of the original Prisons Prisoners by Constance Lytton

The Passion and Death of Rahman the Kurd Ellen Porter, Carol Prunhuber, 2010-01-07 It was in Paris in 1983 that I first met Abdul Rahman Ghassemlou We were introduced at the Kurdish Institute where I was attending an art exhibition with the filmmaker Yilmaz Gney and his wife Fatosh I had met Gney at the Cannes Film Festival in 1982 That year he had won the Golden Palm Award and the publicity that followed brought worldwide attention to the plight of the Kurdish nation As a Venezuelan journalist my limited impression of the Kurds was that they were fierce warriors who lived amongst distant mountains somewhere in the Middle East Yilmaz Gney taught me about the free spirited Kurdish people opening my eyes to the oppression they had endured for centuries Their situation touched me deeply and I began to write articles on the Kurds for Venezuelan newspapers and magazines One year later in Paris I found myself standing face to face with this sophisticated charming and charismatic Middle Eastern leader of millions of Kurds in Iran from THE PASSION AND DEATH OF RAHMAN THE KURD Ghassemlou's lifelong wish was that of lasting peace for his people He was the visionary and cultivated leader of the Iranian Kurdish revolutionary movement brutally assassinated in 1989 while negotiating a peace accord for his people with Iran's government emissaries in Vienna His light still shines upon the volatile politics of this remote Middle East region that continues to play prominently upon the world's political stage Carol Prunhuber writer and journalist with links to the Kurdish world since the early 1980s knew Dr Ghassemlou and spent time in the Kurdish mountains with his guerrillas The Passion and Death of Rahman the Kurd is an

of the International Penitentiary Congress Held in London, July 3-13, 1872 Edwin Pears, 1872 Prisons and the American Conscience Paul W. Keve, 1995 In tracing the evolution of federal imprisonment Paul W Keve emphasizes the ways in which corrections history has been affected by and is reflective of other trends in the political and cultural life of the United States The federal penal system has undergone substantial evolution over two hundred years Keve divides this evolutionary process into three phases During the first phase from 1776 through the end of the nineteenth century no federal prisons existed in the United States Federal prisoners were simply boarded in state or local facilities It was in the second phase starting with the passage of the Three Prison Act by Congress in 1891 that federal facilities were constructed at Leavenworth and Atlanta while the old territorial prison at McNeil Island in Washington eventually became in effect the third prison In this second phase the federal government began the enormous task of providing its own prison cells Still there was no effective supervisory force to make a prison system In 1930 the Federal Bureau of Prisons was created marking the third phase of the prison system's evolution The Bureau in its first sixty years of existence introduced numerous correctional innovations thereby building an effective centrally controlled prison system with progressive standards Keve details the essential characteristics of this now mature system guiding the reader through the historical process to the present day

Civil War Prisons William Best Hesseltine, 1972 First published in 1962 as a special edition of Civil War History journal Civil War Prisons remains the standard on the topic Editor Hesseltine tackles the historiography of northern and southern prisons during the American Civil War He attempts to bring closure to the legendary northern myth that the Southern government did its best to exterminate Union prisoners by calling the effective northern war propaganda a wartime psychosis Furthermore the author offers his analysis over the much debated prisoner exchange system and comes down hard on the North especially its government and General Ulysses S Grant for their questionable approach to this issue For all the serious scholarship and popular writing devoted to the American Civil War the topic of prisoner of war camps more than any other retains the feeling of horror and passion that characterized the war years themselves Men held captive under such circumstances guilty of no offense other than the deplorable misfortune of having been captured by the enemy suffer tremendous psychological punishment as well as physical hardship Monotony estrangement and fear along with privation and often brutality combine to create nearly as wretched a quality of human life as is imaginable The sufferings of Civil War prisoners are documented in this re issue of an early number of the journal Civil War History Recounted there are prisoner experiences in four Confederate installations Andersonville Georgia Libby in Richmond Virginia Cahaba Alabama and Charleston South Carolina The remaining articles treat conditions in four Union prisons Fort Warren in Boston harbor Rock Island Illinois Elmira New York and Johnson's Island on Lake Erie in addition to some examples of sparkling and vivid prose this volume contains a number of excellent photographs as well as an introduction by the late William B Hesseltine Kenneth B Shover The Historian The Detention and Jailing of Juveniles United States. And The little prisoner; or, Passion and patience Susanna Moodie,1844 German and Austrian Prisons Arthur Griffiths,2020-07-27 Reproduction of the original German and Austrian Prisons by Arthur Griffiths The Passion of Our Lord Erich Kiehl,2003-01-14 Though commentaries on the Gospels abound preachers and Bible students have few resources that draw on all four Gospels to tell the story of Christ s final week of ministry Up to date and informative The Passion of Our Lord lets each Gospel writer speak in his inspired account of Jesus passion Substantial background material informs the author s study and he weaves into his text copious insights from historical and archaeological sources He also takes into account Jewish messianic expectations showing how they as well as Roman and Jewish laws shaped events that fateful week Helpful maps diagrams and illustrations support the author s perceptive exposition Research surrounding the final week of Christ s ministry would not be complete without consulting The Passion of Our Lord Desiring Martyrs Harry O. Maier,Katharina Waldner,2020-12-16 Martyrs create space and time through the actions they take the fate they suffer the stories they prompt the cultural narratives against which they take place and the retelling of their tales in different places and contexts The title Desiring Martyrs is meant in two senses First it refers to protagonists and antagonists of the martyrdom narratives who as literary characters seek martyrs and the way they inscribe certain kinds of cultural and social desire Second it describes the later celebration of martyrs via narrative martyrdom acts monuments inscriptions martyria liturgical commemoration pilgrimage etc Here there is a cultural desire to tell or remember a particular kind of story about the past that serves particular communal interests and goals By applying the spatial turn to these ancient texts the volume seeks to advance a still nascent social geographical understanding of emergent Christian and Jewish martyrdom It explores how martyr narratives engage pre existing time space configurations to result in new appropriations of earlier traditions
