Fear Itself Melvin E. Matthews, Jr., 2009-07-15 This book demonstrates how horror films of the 1930s and 1940s reflected specific events and personalities of the era most notably the Great Depression and World War II Beginning with Dracula and Frankenstein 1931 it relates the many ways that horror films and society intersected Franklin D Roosevelt's skepticism toward conventional wisdom and the public's distrust of experts was mirrored in Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde and Murders in the Rue Morgue the freaks in Tod Browning's 1932 film of the same name revolted against the powerful people of the circus much like the Bonus Army protested the sufferings of the Depression King Kong's rampage on New York personified the anti New York sentiment in the nation at large Lon Chaney Jr's Wolf Man symbolized the experience of his creator Curt Siodmak as a Jewish refugee from Nazi Germany

The X-Files and Literature Sharon R. Yang, 2009-10-02 The X Files and Literature Unweaving the Story Unraveling the Lie to find the Truth provides an innovative and valuable exploration of the groundbreaking television program Although much academic work has been devoted to the social psychological and spiritual significance of The X Files until this collection none has fully addressed the series rich adaptation of literature to interrogate our perception definition or recounting of the truth This collection not only unveils new twists and insights into expected connections between The X Files and Gothic writers or with its modernist and post modernist slants on narrative plot and characterization The X Files and Literature also delves into some unexpected literary sources shaping the series such as the Arthurian quest Catholic and Biblical mythology folkloristics and James Fennimore Cooper and the vanishing American mythos This collection of essays covers both how The X Files works with literature's own constantly morphing definition and portrayal of truth through form and content as well as how the television program may or may not subvert our own contradictory expectations and distrust of literature's providing us with enlightenment As television becomes more and more literary with shows like Lost and Gilmore Girls sending us off to the bookstore and the library so we might read them more carefully a book like The X Files and Literature is welcome indeed Sharon R Yang's diverse collection on one of Nineties TV's richest texts finds the truth of the gothic and the Arthurian and the folkloric of the postmodern and
