Year of Ordinary Days Susan Wittig Albert, 2010-06-04 From Eudora Welty's memoir of childhood to May Sarton's reflections on her seventieth year writers journals offer an irresistible opportunity to join a creative thinker in musing on the events whether in daily life or on a global scale that shape our lives In An Extraordinary Year of Ordinary Days best selling mystery novelist Susan Wittig Albert invites us to revisit one of the most tumultuous years in recent memory 2008 through the lens of 365 ordinary days in which her reading writing and thinking about issues in the wider world from wars and economic recession to climate change caused her to reconsider and reshape daily practices in her personal life Albert's journal provides an engaging account of how the business of being a successful working writer blends with her rural life in the Texas Hill Country and the Sangre de Cristo Mountains of New Mexico As her eclectic daily reading ranges across topics from economics food production and oil and energy policy to poetry place and the writing life Albert becomes increasingly concerned about the natural world and the threats facing it especially climate change and resource depletion Asking herself What does it mean And what ought I do about it she determines practical steps to take such as growing more food in her garden and also helps us as readers make sense of these issues and consider what our own responses might be Stories broadcast celebrity book club on society literature and its marketing and popular culture Contributors ask how readers discuss books judge value and make choices The collection addresses questions of authorship authority and canon in texts connected by theme or genre including the postcolonial exotic disability and representations of the body food books and domesticity In addition book club author Andrew Smith shares his experiences in a fascinating interview

Trauma Narratives and Herstory S. Andermahr, S. Pellicer-Ortin, 2013-04-09 Featuring contributions from a wide array of international scholars the book explores the variety of representational strategies used to depict female traumatic experiences in texts by or about women and in so doing articulates the complex relation between trauma gender and signification

Travel and Colonialism in 21st Century Romantic Historical Fiction Paloma Fresno-Calleja, Hsu-Ming Teo, 2024-12-16 Romantic fiction has often involved stories of travel In narratives of the journey towards love romance often involves encounters with exotic places and peoples When history is invoked in such stories the past itself is exoticised and treated as other to the present to serve the purposes of romanticisation a narrative strategy by which all manner of things settings characters costumes customs consumables are made to perform a luxuriant otherness that amplifies the experience of love This volume questions the reparative function of Anglophone romantic historical fiction to ask can plots of travel and discourses of tourism empower women while narrating stories of healing for the wounds of the past This is the first volume to consider how romanticised and exoticised women's historical fiction not only serves the purposes of armchair travel but may also replicate colonial discourse unintentionally positioning readers as neocolonial neo Orientalist cultural voyeurs as well as voyagers

Story Sensei Characterization Worksheet Camy Tang, 2024-03-23 Whether your story is plot driven or character driven characterization is important Your readers identify and or empathize with your characters and that's what keeps them on the edge of their seats wanting to know what happens next to your characters When your reader is apathetic about your character they are more likely to put your book down They simply aren't as invested in the character and are not as interested in the conflict surrounding them A three dimensional character with flaws and strengths usually doesn't just jump out of a writer's head Typically writers spend a great deal of time embellishing and digging deeper into a character whether before the book is written or as they're editing Three dimensional characterization is usually a deliberate concentrated effort Also sometimes when a writer has hit a wall when writing their novel it could be that the writer just doesn't know the character well enough This worksheet will help you develop your story characters By the end of this worksheet you will have

- 1 a solid grasp of who your character is and I'm not talking just favorite ice cream flavor
- 2 your character's flaws and heroic qualities to make him/her truly sympathetic to the reader
- 3 the character's unique qualities to make him/her stand out from all the other characters on the Barnes and Noble shelves
- 4 your character's desire and external goal you'd be amazed at how this can change from your original ideas about your character as you dig deeper and discover who your character is
- 5 the motivation behind your character's actions and not something done over and over again but something really juicy and

unique that shapes your protagonist to make him/her a richer deeper character 6 conflict and obstacles that directly impact your character's external goal 7 the riveting climax of the story both external events and also internal arc This worksheet will guide you through several steps and questions that will help you delve deeper into your characters to make them realistic heroic and memorable

Story Sensei Self-Editing Worksheet Camy Tang, 2024-03-23 You've finished your novel How do you make sure you have a good character arc strong story structure good pacing How can you smooth over rough writing patches eliminate episodic writing or increase emotional intensity My Self-Editing worksheet combines a variety of techniques that I have taught in online workshops into one place with tips to help you refine and polish your manuscript By the end of the worksheet you'll have 1 A good large scale view of your story structure and character arc and knowledge about how to fix any problems in that area 2 Tips for how to revise more emotion into your writing 3 Tools for solving pacing issues 4 A deeper look at technical writing errors to look for in your writing 5 An understanding of your own strengths and weaknesses in terms of critiquing yourself This 69 page worksheet consists of lessons homework and fun exercises for you to apply various types of self editing on your manuscript You'll learn lots of simple techniques to help you revise and tighten your manuscript to be the best it can be Note I made this worksheet originally for a class I was asked to teach This is essentially the shortened versions of both my Deep Point of View worksheet and my Characterization worksheet This contains about 60% of what's in my Deep POV worksheet and about 70% of what's in my Characterization worksheet Both of those worksheets go into more depth about Deep POV and Characterization so if they both interest you you'll get more information and instruction if you buy those two separately However if you want more bang for your buck this worksheet is like the abridged versions of those two worksheets combined into one worksheet Just be aware that this will contain much of the same stuff rather than being all new material

Blaze Stephen King, Richard Bachman, 2010-03-22 He's got a plan But he hasn't got a clue Clayton Blaisdell's capers are strictly small time until he meets George Rackley With Blaze's brawn and George's brains they pull off a hundred successful cons Then George plans the one big score every small timer dreams of kidnapping the infant heir to a family fortune The trouble is that by the time the deal goes down the brains of the operation has died Or has he Now Blaze is running into the white hell of the Maine woods with a baby as hostage The crime of the century just turned into a race against time

Utopia and Terror in Contemporary American Fiction Judie Newman, 2014-07-17 This book examines the quest for failure of Utopia across a range of contemporary American transnational fictions in relation to terror and globalization through authors such as Susan Choi Andr Dubus Dalia Sofer and John Updike While recent critical thinkers have reengaged with Utopia the possibility of terror whether state or non state external or homegrown shadows Utopian imaginings Terror and Utopia are linked in fiction through the exploration of the commodification of affect a phenomenon of a globalized world in which feelings are managed homogenized across cultures exaggerated or expunged according to a dominant model Narrative approaches to the terrorist offer a means to investigate the ways in which fiction can resist commodification of affect and maintain a reasoned but imaginative vision of possibilities for human community Newman explores topics such as the first American bestseller with a Muslim protagonist the links between writer and terrorist the work of Iranian Jewish Americans and the relation of race and religion to Utopian thought
