Ruth Jennison, Julian Murphet

The Odes To TL61p:

The Odes to TL61P Keston Sutherland, 2013 This is a collection of poetry by Keston Sutherland Reader in Poetics at the University of Sussex Forms of Late Modernist Lyric Edward Allen, 2021-11-03 What do we mean when call something a lyric poem How many kinds of lyric are there Are there fewer now than there were in 1920 or 1820 or 1620 The purpose of Forms of Late Modernist Lyric is to show that our oldest styles of poetic articulation the elegy the ode the hymn have figured all too briefly in modern genealogies of lyric and that they have proved especially seductive curiously enough to avant garde practitioners in the Anglophone tradition The poets in question Jorie Graham Frank O'Hara Michael Haslam J H Prynne Claudia Rankine and others have thickened the texture of lyric practice at a time when the growing tendency in critical circles has been to dissolve points of difference within the genre itself The broader aim of this volume is to demonstrate that experimental poets since 1945 have not always been rebarbative and anti traditional but rather that their recourse to familiar forms and shapes of thought should prompt us to reconsider late modernism as a crucial phase in the evolving history of lyric CONTRIBUTORS Ruth Abbott Edward Allen Gareth Farmer Fiona Green Drew Milne Jeremy Noel Tod Sophie Read Matthew Sperling Esther Osorio Whewell John Wilkinson Poetry & the Dictionary Andrew Blades, Piers Pennington, 2020-03-26

Communism and Poetry Ruth Jennison, Julian Murphet, 2019-07-12 Communism and Poetry Writing Against Capital addresses the relationship between an upsurge in collective political practice around the world since 2000 and the crystallization of newly engaged forms of poetry Considering an array of perspectives poets poet critics activists and theorists these essays shed new light on the active interface between emancipatory political thought and poetic production and explore how poetry and the new communism are creating mutually innovative forms of thought and activity supercharging the utopian imagination Drawing inspiration from past connections between communism and poetry and theorizing new directions over the years ahead the volume models a much needed critical solidarity with creative strategies in the present conjuncture to activate movements of resistance on the streets and in verse The Cambridge

Introduction to British Poetry, 1945-2010 Eric Falci, 2015-11-12 This book provides an overview of poetry from England Scotland Wales and Northern Ireland from the postwar period through to the twenty first century The New Ezra Pound Studies Mark Byron, 2020 Essays on recent developments in Pound scholarship and research including newly available primary sources and methodological advances in cognate fields Wound Building Danny Hayward, 2021 Wound Building is a volume of essays with digressions on one group of contemporary poets active in a self organizing political poetry scene in the UK most of whom have little to no audience outside of the little magazines that they publish and the reading series they put on The book is a front line report on the rapid development of this poetry in the period between 2015 and 2020 with a particular focus on the relationship of poetry to violence and its representation The poets discussed here write violent love poems and violent elegies as well as violent fantasies composed in stabs of violent verse and violet prose The poems themselves comprise fantasies of killing David Cameron dreams of being split open along a seam basement songs hundreds of pages of notes on working life in a privatized care home in Hove East Sussex a four line slogan about the Cologne groping scandal of New Year 2016 variations on the Refugees Medical Phrasebook a life wasted in a factory in Guangzhou an autobiographical sci fi internet fever dream an anarchist elegy and a refusal to argue Ultimately Hayward argues that the lessons this poetry teaches is never to write a worthy narrative when a fucked up collage will do Rather than a cohesive account of a school of poets or a contribution to the boring tittle tattle of aesthetic debates over British poetry as an institution Wound Building is a front line report on the local disasters of a contemporary UK poetry caught in the grip of the historical cataclysm of capitalist culture Wound Building is further concerned with aesthetic problems related to Marxism anarchism contemporary trans politics and class though its theoretical preoccupations are subordinated to its desire to provide a ground level view on the writing itself its production its intellectual aporia and the ways it finds itself outstripped by the ongoing march of events The book will be of interest not only for those concerned with contemporary British political and experimental poetry but also more generally for anyone who wishes to think carefully about what it means to make art about present day history and its many horrible enormities The book s title is derived from the idea of sublime woundedness that subtends the context of the poets discussed here the impressions of wounds opening up like LED lit shopfronts in the night in a parallel universe in which injury is intoxicatingly impersonal and structural and which forms the environment in which the poems fight to absolutize the value of every last breath or face into the reality of extravagantly violent wish fulfillment or dissolve themselves in a search for new ways of professing love or transform into a kind of expressionism of vomiting up medical diagnostic categories found in abstract social labor or pump their verses full of the convulsive rhythms of surprise and sudden relief without any guarantee that this is the right thing to do or that anyone will even fucking hear Wound Building does not historicize this state of affairs as much as it attempts to live alongside the immediacy of this work in order to see what is still possible for poetry and criticism to make and do

Poetry and Work Jo Lindsay

Walton, Ed Luker, 2019-11-16 Poetry and Work offers a timely and much needed re examination of the relationship between work and poetry The volume questions how lines are drawn between work and non work how social political and technological upheavals transform the nature of work how work appears or hides within poetry and asks if poetry is work or play or something else completely The book interrogates whether poetry and avant garde and experimental writing can provide models for work that is less alienated and more free In this major new collection sixteen scholars and poets draw on a lively array of theory and philosophy archival research fresh readings and personal reflection in order to consider work and
