Transformations Thomas Lombard:

Translation, Transformation and Transubstantiation in the Late Middle Ages Carol Poster, Richard J. Utz, 1998 This is the third volume in a series of studies on the late Middle Ages covering the period from around 1300 to 1550 Each volume aims to provide exhaustive and diverse treatments of one significant example of late medieval culture Volume three explores transformation and translation Christian Mission and Social Transformation, 1989 Change and Transformation Thomas P. Power, 2013-08-21 The integrative theme of this collection of essays is change and transformation explored in the context of diverse expressions within the context of Anglican Church history It addresses some central themes notably the sacraments liturgy biblical interpretation theological education the relationship of church and state governance and authority and Christian education The volume traces Anglican Church history chronologically It includes a comparative study of penance in the thought of John Wyclif and Thomas Cranmer The book also treats the dispersal of authority evident in the development of the Book of Common Prayer and the King James Bible consensus in eucharistic theology in the seventeenth century and developments in biblical interpretation in the early eighteenth century This book also discusses a vision for the Christian education of children change in theological education in the 1830s the metanarrative of continuity developed by High Church historians in the late nineteenth century increasing self government in the Church at the outset of the twentieth century and models of governance at the outset of the twenty first While this collection highlights aspects of change and transformation as an integrative theme it is not its premise that change was normative or pervasive perpetual or constant within Anglicanism Nevertheless these essays raise some new lines of inquiry make some suggestive interpretations or propose revision of accepted views The Transformation of a Religious Landscape Valerie Ramseyer, 2006-06-08 Ramseyer traces the efforts by the archbishop of Salerno and the abbey of Cava to centralize ecclesiastical structures and standardize religious practices in medieval southern Italy Conversation, Friendship and Transformation Jennifer Constantine Jackson, 2016-12-08 Conversation is the central spiritual exercise in philosophical and theological reflection on language and love Groundbreaking in its interdisciplinary approach Conversation Friendship and Transformation invites readers to an exploration of theological reflection on conversation and friendship as transformative ways of knowing self others and God Contemporary contributions in the areas of rhetorical theory friendship studies and gender collaboration provide a fruitful lens through which conversation as discourse may be understood as a pathway for theological inquiry Augustine's De doctrina christiana and Confessions manifest a foundational example of reflection on the nature of language and love in the context of basic questions of Christianity and culture Two texts from the medieval tradition are brought forth to confirm and develop Augustine's contributions The Letters of Heloise and Abelard have received substantial scholarly attention from the work of medievalists historians and literary critics but require more intentional theological reflection about the relation between the truths of the Christian faith and the collaborative participation of men and women Thomas Aquinas discussion of oratio in the Summa Theologiae is presented for the first time as a pivotal treatise in this profoundly influential text in the history of Western thought Engrafted Into Christ Christopher J. Malloy, 2005 Catholics and Lutherans signed the Joint Declaration on Justification in 1999 This ecumenical agreement claims to resolve all church dividing differences on justification without requiring doctrinal revision a claim that Engrafted into Christ challenges with a twofold thesis First the historic disagreement over justification was substantial thus doctrinal revision is a sine qua non condition of rapprochement Second portions of the Declaration appear irreconcilable with Catholicism A concluding series of original reflections illustrates the intelligibility of Catholic teaching identifies a self destructive element in sola fide and challenges structural elements of Lutheran theology Experts as well as educated laypersons will be interested in this book AIAA 26th Aerospace Sciences Meeting, 1988 Seeing and Being Seen in the Later Medieval World Dallas G. Denery II, 2005-04-28 During the later Middle Ages people became increasingly obsessed with vision visual analogies and the possibility of visual error In this book Dallas Denery addresses the question of what medieval men and women thought it meant to see themselves and others in relation to the world and to God Exploring the writings of Roger Bacon Duns Scotus Peter Aureol and Nicholas of Autrecourt in light of an assortment of popular religious guides for preachers confessors and penitents including Peter of Limoges Treatise on the Moral Eye he illustrates how the question preoccupied medieval men and women on both an intellectual and practical level This book offers a unique interdisciplinary examination of the interplay between religious life perspectivist optics and theology Denery presents significant new insights into the medieval psyche and conception of the self ensuring that this book will appeal to historians of medieval science and those of medieval religious life and theology The Transformation of Natural Philosophy Sachiko Kusukawa, 1995-03-09 This book proposes that Philip Melanchthon was responsible for transforming traditional university natural philosophy into a specifically Lutheran one Motivated by desire to check civil disobedience and promote a Lutheran orthodoxy he created a natural philosophy based on Aristotle Galen and Plato incorporating contemporary findings of Copernicus and Vesalius The fields of astrology anatomy botany and mathematics all constituted a natural philosophy in which Melanchthon wished to demonstrate God's Providential design in the physical world Rather than dichotomizing or synthesizing the two distinct areas of science and religion Kusukawa advocates the need to look at Natural philosophy as a discipline quite different from either modern science or religion a contextual assessment of the implication of the Lutheran Reformation on university education particularly on natural philosophy The Transformation of Frontiers Walter Pohl, Ian Wood, Helmut Reimitz, 2021-10-01 The definition and notion of frontiers changed in the process of the transformation of the Roman world This volume goes beyond topography to explore the meaning and impact of new frontiers as they were established It becomes clear that the transformation of frontiers was not a linear process in which the imperial frontiers were abandoned and the means of controlling them declined but depended on specific circumstances Four of the contributions deal with the frontiers of the

Carolingian Empire in their political and military aspects as well as in the context of Christian conversion and missions Three of the contributions discuss Roman frontiers and their perception in late antiquity demonstrating that they were not simply defence lines but also a basis for offensive operations a focus in elaborate exchange networks and a means of internal control Other papers describe the frontiers of early medieval kingdoms two of which propose theoretical models whereas others analyse the construction and the blurring of frontiers between the empire and the kingdoms of the Visigoths Lombards and Avars

Transformations of Romanness Walter Pohl, Clemens Gantner, Cinzia Grifoni, Marianne Pollheimer-Mohaupt, 2018-07-09 Roman identity is one of the most interesting cases of social identity because in the course of time it could mean so many different things for instance Greek speaking subjects of the Byzantine empire inhabitants of the city of Rome autonomous civic or regional groups Latin speakers under barbarian rule in the West or increasingly representatives of the Church of Rome Eventually the Christian dimension of Roman identity gained ground The shifting concepts of Romanness represent a methodological challenge for studies of ethnicity because depending on its uses Roman identity may be regarded as ethnic in a broad sense but under most criteria it is not Romanness is indeed a test case how an established and prestigious social identity can acquire many different shades of meaning which we would class as civic political imperial ethnic cultural legal religious regional or as status groups This book offers comprehensive overviews of the meaning of Romanness in most former Roman provinces complemented by a number of comparative and thematic studies A similarly wide ranging overview has not been available so far

The Republic of St. Peter Thomas F. X. Noble, 2010-08-03 The Republic of St Peter seeks to reclaim for central Italy an important part of its own history Noble s thesis is at once original and controversial that the Republic an independent political entity was in existence by the 730s and was not a creation of the Franks in the 750s Noble examines the political economic and religious problems that impelled the central Italians and a succession of resolute popes to seek emancipation from the Byzantine Empire He delineates the social structures and historical traditions that produced a distinctive political society describes the complete governmental apparatus of the Republic and provides a comprehensive assessment of the Franco papal alliance

Transformation and Convergence in the Frame of Knowledge Thomas F. Torrance, 1998-04-29 The essays which make up this volume arise out of the author s ongoing engagement with the tension between Christian theology and the general frame of thought that has dominated European culture for several hundred years The early Christian Church set about not only to communicate the Gospel to the Greco Roman world but also to transform the prevailing mode of thought and culture so that the Gospel could take deep root and develop within it Therefore in every age says Thomas F Torrance the Christian faith must be brought to bear transformingly upon the whole frame of human culture science and philosophy

Religious Crisis and Civic Transformation Kimba Allie Tichenor, 2016-05-03 This book offers a fresh interpretation of the connection between the West German Catholic Church and post 1950s political debates on women s reproductive rights and the protection of life in West Germany According to Tichenor Catholic women in West Germany influenced by the culture of consumption the sexual revolution Vatican II reforms and feminism sought to renegotiate their relationship with the Church They demanded a more active role in Church ministries and challenged the Church's hierarchical and gendered view of marriage and condemnation of artificial contraception When the Church refused to compromise women left en masse In response the Church slowly stitched together a new identity for a postsecular age employing an elaborate nuptial symbolism to justify its stance on celibacy women's ordination artificial contraception abortion and reproductive technologies Additionally the Church returned to a radical interventionist agenda that embraced issue specific alliances with political parties other than the Christian parties In her conclusion Tichenor notes more recent setbacks to the German Catholic Church including disappointment with the reactionary German Pope Benedict XVI and his failure in 2010 to address over 250 allegations of sexual abuse at twenty two of Germany's twenty seven dioceses How the Church will renew itself in the twenty first century remains unclear This closely observed case study which bridges religious political legal and women's history will interest scholars and students of twentieth century European religious history modern Germany and the intersection of Catholic Church practice and women's issues
