The Ascent of Affect Ruth Leys, 2017-11-10 In recent years emotions have become a major vibrant topic of research not merely in the biological and psychological sciences but throughout a wide swath of the humanities and social sciences as well Yet surprisingly there is still no consensus on their basic nature or workings Ruth Leys's brilliant much anticipated history therefore is a story of controversy and disagreement The Ascent of Affect focuses on the post World War II period when interest in emotions as an object of study began to revive Leys analyzes the ongoing debate over how to understand emotions paying particular attention to the continual conflict between camps that argue for the intentionality or meaning of emotions but have trouble explaining their presence in non human animals and those that argue for the universality of emotions but struggle when the question turns to meaning Addressing the work of key figures from across the spectrum considering the potentially misleading appeal of neuroscience for those working in the humanities and bringing her story fully up to date by taking in the latest debates Leys presents here the most thorough analysis available of how we have tried to think about how we feel

Ground Sea Hilde Van Gelder, 2021-09-15 Imagine a world in which each individual has a fundamental right to be reborn This idle dream haunts Hilde Van Gelder's associative travelogue that takes Allan Sekula's sequence Deep Six Passer au bleu 1996 1998 as a touchstone for a dialogue with more recent artworks zooming in on the borderscape near the Channel Tunnel such as those by Sylvain George and Bruno Serralongue Combining ethnography visual materials political philosophy cultural geography and critical analysis Ground Sea proceeds through an innovative methodological approach Inspired by the meandering writings of W G Sebald Javier Mar as and Roland Barthes Van Gelder develops a style both interdisciplinary and personal Resolutely opting for an aquatic perspective Ground Sea offers a powerful meditation on the indifference of an increasingly divided European Union with regard to considerable numbers of persons on the move who find themselves stranded close to Calais The contested Strait of Dover becomes a microcosm where our present global challenges of migration climate change human rights and neoliberal surveillance technology converge Read more on the book s dedicated website www.groundsea.be

Your Face Tomorrow: Fever and spear Javier

Marías,2005 In his first major work since A Heart So White winner of the 1997 IMPAC award Javier Mar as embarks on a remarkable novel in parts set in the murky world of surveillance and espionage Fever and Spear is the first volume In it Mar as begins to weave a web of intrigue both narrative and intellectual that will entice the reader to follow him into the labyrinth of the novel s future books Recently divorced Jacques Deza moves from Madrid to London in order to distance himself from his ex wife and children There he picks up old friendships from his Oxford University days and it is at an Oxford party that he is approached by the enigmatic Bernard Tupra Tupra believes that Jacques has a talent he is one of those people who sees more clearly than others His services would be of use to a mysterious group whose aims are unstated but whose day to day activities involve the careful observation of people s character and the prediction of their future behaviour The group is not part of MI5 Jacques will find no reference to it in any book he will be called up to report on all types of people from politicians and celebrities to ordinary citizens applying for bank loans As Deza is drawn deeper into this twilight world of observation Mar as shows how trust and betrayal characterise all human relationships How do we read people and how far can the stories they tell about themselves be trusted when by its very nature all language betrays Moving from the intimacy of Jacque s marriage to the deadly betrayals of the Spanish Civil War Your Face Tomorrow is an extraordinary meditation on our ability to know our fellow human beings and to save ourselves from pain
