CHAPTER 5      DEMAND

Answers to Review Questions

1. To say that someone needs a good is to suggest that he cannot choose to do without the good or buy a substitute for it. We are more likely to be mindful of the fact that almost all goods have substitutes if we speak of wants rather than needs.

Learning Objective: 05-02

AACSB: Reflective Thinking

Bloom's: Understand

2. Even though we cannot actually measure utility directly, we can use the concept of utility to develop a model of how people behave (the marginal utility model) that helps us gain a better understanding of how a rational consumer would allocate her income among different goods.

Learning Objective: 05-02

Bloom's: Understand

3. The law of diminishing marginal utility says that the first units we consume of a good deliver the highest "bang for the buck." This means that if we continue to spend income on a single good, our marginal utility will fall and our total utility will grow at a slower and slower rate. However, if we buy many different goods, each of which gives us a high amount of marginal utility, our total utility will be higher than if we concentrate our income on only one or a few goods.
