Strangers in Paradise David Mittelberg, 1988-01-01 The literature on the Kibbutz is large and sprawling This stands in marked contrast to the intimacy and proximity of the individuals who have actually participated in the life of the Kibbutz In this quite remarkable work David Mittelberg succeeds in capturing the specific life styles and aspirations of the Kibbutzniks And he does so by integrating this within the broad and rich traditions of the sociology of culture and religion Strangers in Paradise provides a massive amount of current data on Jewish and non Jewish volunteers division of labor by sex and language of origins demographic characteristics of Kibbutz hosts and recruits and a variety of attitude measures far beyond any other work in the literature But what gives special value to this effort is its unusual utilization of the phenomenological tradition from Simmel to Schutz to Berger and Luckmann along with recent efforts in organization and negotiation theory from Blau to Goffman in order to explicate this massive data A special element in this volume is the central place accorded to voluntarism in an open culture For Mittelberg membership in the Kibbutz is at its core a voluntary act of individuals who commit their lives or a portion thereof to a collective movement in a strange land This is a study then in intentional communities rather than Utopian organizations The synthesis of the concrete and the abstract the empirical and the theoretical will establish Mittelberg's volume as a new standard in Kibbutz studies

Lovers & Other Strangers Carol Malyon, 1996 Carol Malyon writes of women's lives of their relationships with lovers mothers children other women She explores the relationships between memory and truth Lovers Other Strangers consists of small stories snapshots of women's lives in specific times and situations The setting and characters vary but the theme remains fixed that there is a fundamental and irreconcilable discord between men and women in their view of the world their modes of communication the way they view themselves the way they view others Carol Malyon's stories are nearly all unconventionally brief and intense in feeling They are essentially a poet's stories but they most definitely are not that revolting hybrid prose poetry This writing is hard direct forceful She is among those writers who are forcing us to reconsider the nature and form of the short story in Canada The stories are often prickly They illuminate but illuminate darkly Malyon gazes down into the emotional chasm which seems to separate men and women parents and children and the images she brings to the surface are not quite like anything you've read before though you recognize them and know they're true Perhaps the only Canadian stories at all comparable are those of Carol Shields in Various Miracles and The Orange Fish
