

Chapter 2: Mapping Our World

2.1 Objectives

- Describe the difference between latitude and longitude.
- Explain why it is important to give a city's complete coordinates when describing its location.
- Explain why there are different time zones from one geographic area to the next

Latitude and Longitude

Lines of latitude and longitude are used to locate places on Earth.

Latitude

Maps are flat models of three-dimensional objects. For thousands of years people have used maps to define borders and to find places. The map at the beginning of this chapter was made in 1570 by Abraham Ortelius.

What do you notice about the size and shape of the continents? Today, more information is available to create more accurate maps. The science of mapmaking is called cartography.

Cartographers use an imaginary grid of parallel lines to locate exact points on Earth. In this grid, the equator horizontally circles Earth halfway between the north and south poles. The equator separates Earth into two equal halves called the northern hemisphere and the southern hemisphere.
