communal reward for success Taking a cultural rhetorical approach to contests each chapter demonstrates the cultural work the contests accomplish The essays in Part I examine contests and riddles in classical Greek and Roman periods educational contests in eighteenth century Scotland and the Lyceum movement in the Antebellum American South The next set of essays discusses how contests leverage competition and reward in educational settings medieval universities American turn of the century women s colleges twenty first century scholarship essay contests and writing contests for speakers of other languages at the University of Portsmouth The last set of essays examines popular contests including poetry contests in Youth Spoken Word popular American contests designed by marketers and twenty first century podcasting competitions This collection then takes up contests as a cultural marker of our values assumptions and relationships to writing contests and competition

IAPS School Jan 2011 Digital Finance and Regulatory Competition Lucien van Romburg, 2024-11-21 International Banking and Finance Law Series 39 Digital Finance and Regulatory Competition Regulating Distributed Ledger Technology Based Financial Products and Services Lucien J van Romburg Governments like people compete against each other but do so in a bid to achieve their myriad socio economic and political aims In the operation of regulatory competition governments may create rules with the intent of attracting capital and labour to their domains In the twenty first century regulatory competition takes on a new dimension in the face of the rapid advancement of digital finance The role of financial technology fintech as a tool through which governments achieve their aims cannot be overstated The proliferation of distributed ledger technologies DLT marked a watershed moment for technological advancement and presented a ripe opportunity for governments to defend their competing claims for resources In this context this book tackles the question of whether the world s leading financial centres Hong Kong London and New York engaged in regulatory competition against each other through their creation of rules to govern DLT based financial products and services during the period 2008 until 2022 In answering this question this book provides a cohesive framework for understanding the influence of regulatory competition on rule creation using a narrative lens based on a comparative study of legal regulatory and policy instruments The lessons distilled from the analysis provide reasoned observations on the potential implications for the future regulation of financial products and services underlined by novel technologies The topics covered in this book which concern the timely intersection of regulatory competition and fintech include the emergence and impact of DLT its core features types use cases and applications in the financial services industry origins of regulatory competition from Charles Tiebout to the regulatory races to the top and bottom formulation of a definitional matrix which provides a cohesive framework for understanding regulatory competition regulatory frameworks for DLT based financial products and services in Hong Kong London and New York and potential impact of regulatory competition on the future regulation of financial products and services underlined by novel technologies This book represents one of the very few studies comprehensively tackling the topic of regulatory competition through the guise of fintech It will deepen the understanding of lawmakers policymakers and regulators concerning the influence and significance of regulatory competition The discussion surrounding the regulation of DLT based financial products and services will also be of interest to practitioners students and general readers alike Decisions and Orders of the National Labor Relations Board United States. National Labor Relations Board, 2015 Institutional Competition between Common Law and Civil Law Michèle Schmiegelow, Henrik Schmiegelow, 2014-05-27 This book addresses two countervailing challenges to theory and policy in law and economics The first is the rise of legal origins theory which denies the comparative law view of convergence between common law and civil law by the assertion of an economic superiority of common law The second is the series of economic crises in the very financial markets on which that assertion was based Both trends unsettled certainties about the rule of law and institutional economics Meeting legal origins theory in its main areas of political science sociology and economics the book extends the interdisciplinary reach to neglected aspects of comparative law legal history dynamic econometric analysis and quasi natural experiments with counterfactual evidence of different institutional regimes in divided countries These combined methodological tools make tests of the economic impact of different legal origins much more reliable This is shown for developed and newly industrialized countries as well as developing transforming and emerging countries with or without financial center advantage affected or not by financial crises The Asian financial crises and the American subprime crisis have been or could have been resolved using the resources of common law or civil law These cases and data on access to justice in Africa Asia and Latin America reveal the problem of substantive law remaining law on the books without efficient procedural rules and judicial structures The single most striking common law civil law divide is that lawyer dominated common law procedure is slower and costlier than judge managed civil law procedure Countries as diverse as the Netherlands Japan and China show functional interaction between culture and law in legal reforms Such interaction can reduce the occurrence of legal disputes as well as facilitate their resolution It can use economic crises as catalysts for legal reforms or rely on regional integration and it should replace the discredited method of legal transplants by sustained dialogue between legal advisors and all actors involved in legal reforms
