SCHWINN SIERRA QUICK RELEASE HUB AND BRAKE LEVER

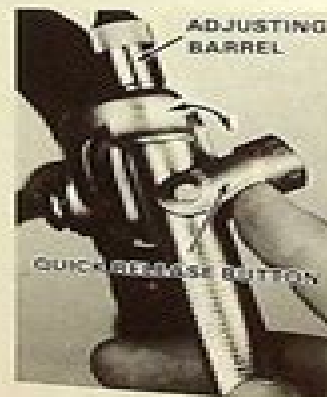

The Schwinn Sierra is equipped with a front quick release hub with retention device and brake lever. This equipment allows rapid wheel removal and installation without the use of tools. The quick release hub consists of a lever, the mounting "skewer", two tension springs to center the hub and an adjusting nut. The quick release button is located on the brake lever or on the caliper assembly itself.

NOTE: Make sure you observe the procedures given here for reinstalling wheels. Also, if your bicycle has been parked outside for a while, it is a good idea to check the quick release lever to make sure that it has not been tampered with before you ride.

WHEEL REMOVAL

To remove a front wheel equipped with quick release hub and retention-clip, use the following procedure:

1. Apply pressure to brake hand lever as if to brake. Push quick release button to one side and release the brake lever allowing the quick release button to ease cable tension and move brake shoes further from the rim. The wheel can now be removed from the caliper brake without scuffing the tire or the brake shoe.
2. Turn quick release lever 180° towards the front of the bicycle.
3. Unfasten retention clips on both sides of quick release hub by pressing in spring steel retention clip tabs until they clear the retention studs in fork. Move clips to rear.
4. Remove front wheel.
