They Never Saw Me Then:

They Never Saw Me Then Richard H. Timberlake Jr., 2002-03-28 This book is the story of my flying experiences during World War II It covers primarily the period from February 1943 to April 1945 At the beginning I explain why and how I got into the Army Air Corps as it was then called and at the end I include an account of my partial convalescence in a U S Army hospital in England Otherwise I stick closely to my actual flying experiences and the events of that era I omit all but a trivial amount of personal experiences outside of flying I have compiled this account from several sources 1 my memory and my official flight record 2 the letters I wrote to my immediate family while I was in the Air Corps which I repossessed after my parents died 3 official Eighth Air Force records of bombing missions 4 accounts written by former crew members Larry Locker John R Wingfield and Fred Stoker and 5 the book The 388th at War by Edward Huntzinger During the war I had a diary in which I kept brief accounts of day to day events However some eager lackey who must have known that diaries were officially forbidden removed it from my belongings in March 1945 when he transferred them from my bomber unit to the Army hospital where I was convalescing Fortunately I could verify the dates and events that I include in this account by means of these other sources Long ago I determined to write this chronicle if I survived my combat tour I felt that it would be the least I could do for those who will never grow old and can never speak for themselves I do not pretend to speak for them Nevertheless if my account is only one among many that bears witness to the trauma and agony of politically organized human conflict it will have served its purpose The title I have chosen derives from the common thought many of us have when we are suddenly enveloped in Big Events such as for example World War II Boy if they could see me now we think as we imagine all the people family friends and enemies who might gasp in awe and admiration at our exploits But They Never Saw Me Then Since they did not see me then I decided to tell this story myself I was a young man a boy really 21 22 years old during 1943 and 1944 I was one among millions of young men fighting millions of other young men all of whom might have been friends if not for the circumstances of time and place in which they happened to live All my fellow airmen and I knew that Hitler and his henchmen were atrocious and loathsome examples of the human race Yet any U S soldier or airman who thought even briefly about his job of trying to kill and destroy the enemy knew that he was not within range of damaging Hitler and other Nazi leaders We could not reach their personal environments or influence their decisions our activities were many magnitudes removed from hurting them We could only chip away at the peripheries of their domain and hope that our efforts would destroy their capability to continue To do so we had to try and kill our enemy counterparts with whom we had no personal quarrel at all We aimed our bombs at their strategic war making industries and infrastructure but in the process we knew we could not avoid hitting churches schools and innocent people Many of us thought that a better way must exist Fifty six years later I still think so The first section of this book describes my experiences as an aviation cadet I began flying in August 1943 and advanced through the three phases of the Air Corps flight instruction program Primary Basic and

Advanced I received my silver Pilot Wings in February 1944 which meant I was in the pilot class of 44 B Air Corps orders then assigned me to the role of copilot on a B 17 I was placed on a crew for operational training at Drew Field near Tampa Florida Upon completion of that training my crew and I were shipped to Sco

Cabin Fervor John E. Thompson,2023-09-11 Every fall Dad and his buddies drove 200 miles to Jack Hochlander s tiny unheated Adirondack cabin centrally located in the middle of nowhere to hunt deer In 1957 Dad became part owner making him the happiest man on earth Now outside hunting season he brought my brothers and me along teaching us the ways of the woods and how not to cook We had an absolute blast As Dad said We don t have a lot of money but we have a lot of fun The cabin became my favorite place on earth too Given a choice I d take a weekend at the cabin over Christmas I can t wait for the day you fellas do the driving he d say sucking on a smoke steering his latest jalopy up the crumbling old roads I ll just relax look out the window and watch the woods go by I m really looking forward to that Twenty years later on his sixty third birthday February 6 1979 he got his wish but I was the only driver My brothers wisely chose not to come I thought we d have a great time snowshoeing swapping stories around the wood stove but I never factored in his drinking Saturday night drunk he challenged a group of reviled snowmobilers at the Deer Head Inn and barely escaped with his life So much for our glorious weekend After his untimely death at 73 his youngest son Graham took over the cabin That didn t last long directly across our road a huge new house was built spoiling our serenity wrecking our wilderness and Graham was gone now at long last the place was mine Like Dad I started bringing my kids up Would they feel the same magic Dad and I felt there years before
