Parliament. Joint Committee on Human Rights, 2004 The Joint Committee on Human Rights examined the implementation of the UN International Covenant on Economic Social and Cultural Rights in the UK Domestic legislation protects many of the economic social and cultural rights with the Covenant itself having little impact in UK domestic law The Committee believes that there is scope for incorporating further protection of rights in the UK by enshrining some of the guarantees contained in the Covenant Further that for the Covenant rights to be effective they should be part of a framework for government policy development and that Government along with the Commission for Equality and Human Rights should develop ways of measuring the progress of these rights The Committee also recommends that explanatory notes to Bills should include discussion of the Bills compatibility with Covenant rights which is a way of enhancing the scrutiny of proposed Government legislation Furthermore the Committee recommends the introduction of an Equality Bill to address the concerns of discrimination faced by ethnic minorities and persons with disabilities in employment housing and education Financing Access and Equity in Higher Education , 2019-02-11 The demand for higher education worldwide is booming Governments want well educated citizens and knowledge workers but are scrambling for funds The capacity of the public sector to provide increased and equitable access to higher education is seriously challenged What are the on the ground realities of developing financial resources and policies to meet the twin goals of equity and access without jeopardizing quality This volume provides in depth reports from selected countries and sub regions Morocco Korea England Uganda Poland Oman East and southern Africa Southeast Asia Brazil and Egypt Each chapter is written by a seasoned educator participating in the Fulbright New Century Scholar program for 2007 2008 Given the near universal constraints of declining resources but increasing enrollments the authors identify Government reform of higher education Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Business, Innovation and Skills Committee,Adrian Bailey,2011-11-10 This report concludes that the Government s communications strategy on tuition fees could have been more effectively realised It urges the government to reconsider funding widening participation in higher education through a programme similar to the pupil premium The committee also concluded that focusing financial support on providing money for living costs to students while they are studying would be a more effective means of support than fee waivers and would be more consistent with the message that students should not be dissuaded from applying to university because of the cost and recommends that the National Scholarship Programme be refocused accordingly Furthermore reforms are not yet complete with a number of consultation exercises currently out for responses including early repayment penalties for loans the future of student number controls loans for students studying at alternative providers off quota students and a new regulatory framework for new and alternative providers The detail to be required in the Key Information Sets has yet to be finalised There will also need to be changes to both OFFA and HEFCE to reflect their changing responsibilities in higher education The committee highlights the fact that the new fee regime is to start at the beginning of the next academic year and there is concern that the necessary coherent package of reforms be delivered to that timetable The report also stresses that the reforms should be implemented as a package and not in a piecemeal way

Marcucci, 2010-06-07 No issue in higher education is as salient or as controversial as finance As demand for higher education around the world grows so do the costs associated with it especially as governments shoulder less of the burden Tuition fees rise and student loan debt grows Who pays for these surging costs Who should pay D Bruce Johnstone and Pamela N Marcucci examine the universal phenomenon of cost sharing in higher education where financial responsibility shifts from governments and taxpayers to students and families They find that growing costs for education far outpace public revenue streams that once supported it Even with financial aid and scholarships defraying some of these costs students are responsible for a greater share of the cost of higher education Featuring comprehensive economic and policy data the authors international comparative approach shows how economically diverse countries all face similar cost sharing challenges So who should pay for higher education While cost sharing is both politically and ideologically debated Johnstone and Marcucci contend that for almost all countries it is imperative for the financial health of colleges and universities bringing better efficiency equity and responsiveness
