

Journal: Reflective Practice for Nurse

Introduction

Reflection on practice may be a key talent for nurses. We tend to never learn through memorizing involvement unless begin to study from reflecting on our experiences. Reflective practice is that the cyclic method of internally examining and exploring a problem of concern, triggered by expertise, that clears and clarifies that means in terms of self, existing information, and experience; leading to a modified abstract perceptive and observation. Nurses create excellence among the welfare of their patients by siding 24/7, obtaining information into symptoms, and dealing with the families. My reflective practice is characterized by the ability to look at activities and encounters with the results of making their viable and upgrading nursing knowledge. My reflective journal focused on three incidents mainly effective communication failure, a medication error, and workload in nursing homes that I experienced in my past work settings. Each clinical scenario is a chance for learning. I actually have chosen Gibbs's model of reflection to guide my reflective method. Gibbs's model goes through six important points to assist the reflective method counting illustration of events, feelings, evaluation, analysis, conclusion, and eventually action set up.

Effective Communication Failure

The first incident arose while I used to be working in the post-operative ward wherever the relinquishment was completed inaccurately. The ward had semi-permanent clients; the bulk of them had conditions that were stable. No one had undergone surgical
