Low-Carbon Oriented Improvement Strategy for Flexibility and Resiliency of Multi-Energy Systems Yumin Zhang,Lu Zhang,Rufeng Zhang,Hao Wang,Shuai Yao,2024-09-18 Due to the inherent volatility and randomness the increasing share of energy from renewable resources presents a challenge to the operation of multi energy systems with heterogeneous energy carriers such as electricity heat hydrogen etc These factors will make the systems hard to adjust their supply and demand flexibly to maintain energy balance to ensure reliability Further this hinders the development of a low carbon and economically viable energy system By making full use of the synergistic interaction of generation transmission load demand and energy storage a three fold approach focused on quantifying demand flexibility evaluating supply capabilities and enhancing resilience can unlock the flexibility potential across various sectors of new energy systems This approach provides an effective means of facilitating the transition from conventional energy systems to low carbon clean energy oriented paradigms However huge challenges arising from renewable energy pose great obstacles to the aforementioned solution pathway The main objectives of this Research Topic are 1 Develop advanced carbon emission accounting and measurement techniques for emerging multi energy systems 2 Design effective methods for predicting renewable electricity generation 3 Proposed efficient methods for quantitative assessment of uncertainty from renewables and loads 4 Put forward advanced evaluation optimization and planning strategies incorporating diverse flexibility resources 5 Design multifaceted market mechanisms and collaborative frameworks balancing economics and low carbon footprint 6 Develop operational control and resilience enhancement techniques for distribution networks under large scale distributed energy integration

Everything for Sale? The Marketisation of UK Higher Education Roger Brown, Helen Carasso, 2013-02-11 The marketisation of higher education is a growing worldwide trend Increasingly market steering is replacing or supplementing government steering Tuition fees are being introduced or increased usually at the expense of state grants to institutions Grants for student support are being replaced or supplemented by loans Commercial rankings and league tables to guide student choice are proliferating with institutions devoting increasing resources to marketing branding and customer service The UK is a particularly good example of this not only because it is a country where marketisation has arguably proceeded furthest but also because of the variations that exist as Scotland Wales and Northern Ireland increasingly diverge from England In Everything for Sale Roger Brown argues that the competitive regime that is now applicable to our Higher Education system was the logical and possibly inevitable outcome of a process that began with the introduction of full cost fees for overseas students in 1980 Through chapters including Markets and Non Markets The Institutional Pattern of Provision The Funding of Research The Funding of Student Education Quality Assurance The Impact of Marketisation Efficiency diversity and equity He shows how the evaluation and funding of research the funding of student education quality assurance and the structure of the system have increasingly been organised on market or quasi market lines As well as helping to explain the evolution of British higher education over the past thirty years the book contains some important messages about the consequences of introducing or extending market competition in universities core activities of
