Women, Elections, & Representation Robert Darcy, 1994-01-01 The first women representatives in the United States were elected in 1894 when Colorado votes sent three women to the state legislature Now a century later women almost everywhere are the majority of voters but a distinct minority of elected officials This discrepancy is a puzzle for those who thought democratic institutions would incorporate newly enfranchised women and a problem for those working to expand democratic representation Darcy Welch and Clark examine women candidates and candidacies in the United States and several other democratic nations Their careful analysis reveals that male voters and political elites are not the barriers to women's election that common wisdom suggests. Instead they find that a party's ability to determine candidate selection along with election procedures that benefit incumbents produces slow turnover of elected officials and few opportunities for new women candidates. In addition the authors analyze nomination procedures and election systems to document both the conditions that lead political parties to nominate more women and the mechanisms that yield more victories by women candidates. Women Elections and Representation is an extensively revised and expanded edition of a successful text that provides a thorough and up to date account of research on women and politics.

Studio-Based Instrumental Learning Kim Burwell, 2016-04-01 In Studio Based Instrumental Learning Kim Burwell investigates the nature of lesson interactions in instrumental teaching and learning. Studio lesson activity is represented as a private interaction dealing with skill acquisition and reflecting a tradition based in apprenticeship as well as the personal attributes and intentions of participants. The varied and particular nature of such interaction does not always lend itself well to observation or when observed to easy interpretation. This presents particular problems for practitioners wishing to share aspects of professional knowledge and for researchers seeking to explain the practice. Focusing on a single case study of two clarinet lessons Burwell uses video observations and interviews to analyse collaborative lesson activity through the rich transcription of performance verbal and nonverbal behaviours. The foregrounded lesson interactions are also contextualised by the background consideration of social cultural and institutional frameworks. The research is aimed at helping to create a framework that can support reflection among practitioners as they continually develop their work not only experientially through the tradition of vertical transmission from one musician to another but collaboratively through the horizontal sharing of good practice.

Proceedings of the fourth Asia-Pacific Research in Social Sciences and Humanities, Arts and Humanities Stream (AHS-APRISH 2019) Shuri Mariasih Gietty Tambunan, 2023-05-27 This is an open access book. According to Castells power now rests in networks the logic of the network is more powerful than the powers of the network quoted in Weber 2002 p 104 it is whether nation states or local communities are deeply affected especially by inclusion in and exclusion from the global networks that structure a various sectors in society at any level. Thus it is also crucial look closely at exclusion from and inclusion in different kinds of social structures where connectivity and access to networks are essential being aware that people at the bottom are those who with nothing to offer the network are excluded. Castells arguments shows us how the new forms of network society offer challenges in a way that despite the disappearance of conventional ties exploitation marginalization exclusion and differentiation remain. In what follows scholars are invited to build an academic discussion on characterizing the structure and dynamics of societies in the world of the twenty first century. Thus scholar may come to look at the meaning of being in a network society by examining the role of network society within the complexity of socio cultural political and economic circumstances in strengthening the role of science in overcoming local national regional and global problems. But scientific research is also required to identify a wide variety of solutions to societal problems enhanced by the network society which no longer relate solely to a particular discipline but are multi and trans disciplinary In addition recent research has changed the traditional role of academia demanding more collaboration in the production of science not only among universities but also among researchers social practitioners and policymakers Considering these issues the fourth Asia Pacific Research in Social Sciences and Humanities APReSH will be hosted by the Faculty of Social and Political Sciences Universitas Indonesia FISIP UI in 2019 under the theme The Network Society Continuity and Change Scientific inputs from all parts of the world are welcome academically and practically Various perspectives based on mono disciplinary multi disciplinary or trans disciplinary research are expected to examine the problems and contribute to solutions
