Hölderlin's Dionysiac Poetry Lucas Murrey, 2014-12-08 This book casts new light on the work of the German poet Friedrich Hölderlin 1770-1843 and his translations of Greek tragedy It shows Hölderlin's poetry is unique within Western literature and art as it retrieves the socio-politics of a Dionysiac space-time and language to challenge the estrangement of humans from nature and one another In this book author Lucas Murrey presents a new picture of ancient Greece noting that money emerged and rapidly developed there in the sixth century B.C. This act of monetization brought with it a concept of tragedy money tyrants struggling against the forces of earth and community who succumb to individual isolation blindness and death As Murrey points out Hölderlin unconsciously retrieves the battle between money nature and community and creatively applies its lessons to our time But Hölderlin's poetry not only adapts tragedy to question the unlimited machine process of a clever race of money tyrants It also draws attention to Greece's warnings about the mortal danger of the eyes in myth cult and theatre This monograph thus introduces an urgently needed vision not only of Hölderlin hymns but also the relevance of disciplines as diverse as Literary Studies Philosophy Psychology Psychoanalysis as well as Religious and Visual Media Studies to our present predicament where a dangerous visual culture through its support of the unlimitedness of money is harming our relation to nature and one another Here triumphs a temperament guided by ancient religion and that excavates in Hölderlin's translations the central god Dionysus of Greek tragedy Lucas Murrey shares with his subject Hölderlin a vision of the Greeks as bringing something vitally important into our poor world a vision of which few classical scholars are now capable Richard Seaford author of Money and the Early Greek Mind and Dionysus Here triumphs a temperament guided by ancient religion and that excavates in Hölderlin's translations the central god Dionysus of Greek tragedy Bernhard B. Schenkein author of Frucht des Gewitters Zu Hölderlins Dionysos als Gott der Revolution and Paul Celan Der Meridian Lucas Murrey takes the god of tragedy Dionysus finally serious as a manifestation of the ecstatic scream of liberation and visual strategies of dissolution he pleasantly portrays Hölderlin's idiosyncratic poetic sympathy Anton Bierl author of Der Chor in der Alten Komödie Ritual and Performativität Hölderlin most surely deserved such a book Jean-François Kervégan author of Que faire de Carl Schmitt fascinating material Noam Chomsky author of Media Control and Nuclear War and Environmental Catastrophe Charles J. Rzepka, 1999 The Romantic poetas exemplified by Wordsworth Coleridge and

Keats is attracted to and made anxious by two opposite ideas of the self. On the one hand he identifies with the inner self as a mind wholly at one with its perceptions and with the world as an image within it. On the other hand since this inner self is wholly private the poet turns to others for confirmation of its reality either literally in direct confrontations or figuratively in the voice and workmanship of his text. Because his dependence on others for a sense of his own reality jeopardizes the poet's feelings of self possession however he tries to minimize this threat by manipulating or preempting others' responses to him. Previous discussions of the Romantic self have focused on the self as a mental power immanent in the vision of the world it shapes. Charles Rzepka now draws our attention to the poet's attitude toward the self as socially formed and confirmed and the effects of this attitude on Romantic poetry and perception.
