Human Characteristics Preben Bertelsen, Henrik Høgh-Olesen, Jan Tønnesvang, 2009-01-23 Every once in a while we have to reconsider the perennial questions concerning human nature What are the special human behaviours social practices and psychological structures that make us particularly human The field of evolution psychology and cognitive science is the most expanding inter disciplinary area of this field for the time being uniting different sciences under the same evolutionary paradigm and keeping them occupied by the same eternal questions stated above Relevant data and theoretical considerations are piling up but an overview is needed To facilitate this a large inter disciplinary conference entitled Human Mind Human Kind was held at Aarhus University Denmark The studies fall into three well defined sections 1 Evolution and Cognition Comparative and Developmental Perspectives 2 Human Sociality Morality and Religiosity 3 Human Sexuality and Mating Strategies Specifying the differences between our own species and the rest of the animal world always provokes debate But these demarcations simply have to be drawn once and again They focus attention and stimulate research exactly because they provoke and challenge other researchers to take up the glove and prove us wrong     Nuclear Science

Introduction to Environment, Society and Sustainability Helen Hazen, Paul Sutton, 2024-10-07 This timely and innovative book delves into the complex interplay of human activities and natural limits in generating today's sustainability challenges By contrasting the pressures of growing populations with ecological footprints associated with consumption the volume navigates the contested terrain where human societies generate environmental impacts Adorned with illustrative figures examples and case studies throughout this book presents insightful analysis of ecological economic technological and social justice responses to the challenges faced by human civilization including land degradation climate change pollution and overexploitation of natural resources Many of these issues are wicked problems characterized by incomplete information multiple stakeholders and contested approaches to addressing them In simple terms sustainability issues are an interplay between population growth and rising consumption which are placing impossible demands on finite resources Potential solutions to the crisis are split between green growth approaches that emphasize technology and institutional capacity to guide economic growth in more sustainable ways and degrowth approaches that call for a fundamental rethinking of the way we structure society and generate value This book emerged from a student seminar where undergraduate and graduate students highlighted sustainability topics of concern helped consider their framing and then assisted with co writing several of the chapters The volume encourages readers to consider structural questions that underpin sustainability dilemmas and begins with four theoretical frameworks for understanding sustainability issues ideas from the natural sciences the population consumption debate economic frameworks and ethical approaches It then uses a systems approach to apply these theoretical ideas to complex global systems such as the atmosphere oceans and agriculture This volume will be of pivotal interest to students scholars and academics in the fields of environmental studies environment and society human geography and environmental geography as well as those with an interest in these areas more generally
