Moving Cellular Material

Key Concept How do materials enter and leave cells?

Directions: On each line, write the term from the word bank that correctly completes each sentence. Each term is used only once.

- 1. the movement of substances from an area of higher concentration to an area of lower concentration
 2. transport proteins that carry large molecules, such as sugar molecules, through a cell membrane
 3. the state a substance is in when the concentration of the substance is the same on both sides of a cell membrane
 4. when a cell takes in a substance by surrounding it with the cell membrane
- 5. the diffusion of water molecules only
- when the cell membrane uses special transport proteins to move materials through the cell membrane
- transport proteins that form pores through a cell membrane that allow small molecules to pass through
- the movement of substances through a cell membrane by using the cell's energy
 - proteins that assist with the transport of molecules through a cell membrane
- 10. when a cell's vesicles release their contents outside the cell
- what a cell membrane is because it allows only certain substances to enter or leave a cell
- 12. the movement of substances through a cell membrane without using the cell's energy

- A. semipermeable

Kamrani, H.R. Parsaei, D.H. Liles, 1995-04-11 Leading researchers in the field of cellular manufacturing systems from academia and industry have contributed to this volume The book aims to report the latest developments and address the central issues in the design and implementation of cellular manufacturing systems Cellular Manufacturing CM is one of the major concepts used in the design of flexible manufacturing systems CM also known as group production or family programming can be described as a manufacturing technique that produces families of parts within a single line or cell of machines The first part of the book describes various techniques for design and modeling of cellular manufacturing systems

The second part is concerned with performance measure and analysis followed by a section which presents the applications of artifical intelligence and computer tools in cellular manufacturing systems Illinois Research .1977 Biomembranes Industrial Drying of Foods Christopher G.J.
