Universal Dictionary of the English Language ,1898 Universal Dictionary of the English Language Robert Hunter,1899 Universal Dictionary of the English Language: Ine-Rhe Robert Hunter,1897 Translation or Transcreation? Discourses, Texts and Visuals Cinzia Spinzi,Alessandra Rizzo,Marianna Lya Zummo,2019-01-15 This wide ranging collection brings together essays on a recent approach to translation known as transcreation Together with new modes of translation such as fansubbing fandubbing and crowdsourcing transcreation has challenged the traditional structure of the translation market the agency and ethics of the discipline and encouraged new research in translation studies A debate has emerged around the two concepts of translation and transcreation mostly in terms of differences between the two practices and issues such as creativity abusive translation and appropriation Mainly applied to commercial translation transcreation is now gaining momentum among translation scholars in broader areas of application going beyond the early focus of promotional and advertising products where it was initially practised In the specific context of this volume transcreation is discussed in relation to a variety of textual and visual genres that range from poetry prose theatre film and television to tourism and highly specialised legal texts Making Sense of Contemporary British Muslim Novels Claire Chambers,2019-04-23 This book is the sequel to Britain Through Muslim Eyes and examines contemporary novelistic representations of and by Muslims in Britain It builds on studies of the five senses and sensuous geographies of postcolonial Britain and charts the development since 1988 of a fascinating and important body of fiction by Muslim identified authors It is a selective literary history exploring case study novelistic representations of and by Muslims in Britain to allow in depth critical analysis through the lens of sensory criticism It argues that for authors of Muslim heritage in Britain writing the senses is often a double edged act of protest Some of the key authors excoriate a suppression or cover up of non heteronormativity and women s rights that sometimes occurs in Muslim communities Yet their protest is especially directed at secular culture s ocularcentrism and at successive British governments efforts to surveil control and suppress Muslim bodies The Ephemeral History of Perfume Holly Dugan,2011-11-01 In contrast to the other senses smell has long been thought of as too elusive too fleeting for traditional historical study Holly Dugan disagrees arguing that there are rich accounts documenting how men and women produced consumed and represented perfumes and their ephemeral effects She delves deeply into the cultural archive of olfaction to explore what a sense of smell reveals about everyday life in early modern England In this book Dugan focuses on six important scents incense rose sassafras rosemary ambergris and jasmine She links these smells to the unique spaces they inhabited churches courts contact zones plague ridden households luxury markets and pleasure gardens and the objects used to dispense them This original approach provides a rare opportunity to study how early modern men and women negotiated the environment in their everyday lives and the importance of smell to their daily actions Dugan defines perfume broadly to include spices flowers herbs animal parts trees resins and other ingredients used to produce artificial scents smokes fumes airs balms powders and liquids In researching these Renaissance aromas Dugan uncovers the extraordinary ways now largely lost that people at the time spoke and wrote about smell objects ambered civited expired fetored halited resented and smeeked or were described as breathful embathed endulced gracious halited incensial odorant pulvil redolent and suffite A unique contribution to early modern studies The Ephemeral History of Perfume is an unparalleled study of olfaction in the Renaissance a period in which new scents and important cultural theories about smell were developed Dugan s inspired analysis of a wide range of underexplored sources makes available to scholars a remarkable wealth of information on the topic Perfume on the Page in Nineteenth-Century France Cheryl

Krueger,2023-06-26 Despite long standing assertions that languages including French and English cannot sufficiently communicate the experience of smell much of France s nineteenth century literature has gained praise for its memorable evocation of odours As French perfume was industrialized democratized cosmeticized and feminized in the nineteenth century stories of fragrant scent trails aligned perfume with toxic behaviour and viewed a woman s scent as something alluring but also something to be controlled Drawing on a wealth of resources Perfume on the Page in Nineteenth Century France explores how fiction and related writing on olfaction meet permeate and illuminate one another The book examines medical tracts letters manuscripts posters print advertisements magazine articles perfume manuals etiquette books interviews and encounters with fragrant materials themselves Cheryl Krueger explores how the olfactory language of a novel or poem conveys the distinctiveness of a text its unique relationship to language its style and its ways of engaging the reader its signature scent Shedding light on the French perfume culture that we know today Perfume on the Page in Nineteenth Century France follows the scent trails that ultimately challenge us to read perfume and literature in new ways The
