Resources in Education ,1995-10 Centering Humanism in STEM Education Bryan Dewsbury,Susannah McGowan,Sheila S. Jaswal ,Desiree Forsythe,2024-09-24 Research demonstrates that STEM disciplines perpetuate a history of exclusion particularly for students with marginalized identities This poses problems particularly when science permeates every aspect of contemporary American life Institutions repeated failures to disrupt systemic oppression in STEM has led to a mostly white cisgender and male scientific workforce replete with implicit and or explicit biases Education holds one pathway to disrupt systemic linkages of STEM oppression from society to the classroom Maintaining views on science as inherently objective isolates it from the world in which it is performed STEM education must move beyond the transactional approaches to transformative environments manifesting respect for students social and educational capital We must create a STEM environment in which students with marginalized identities feel respected listened to and valued We must assist students in understanding how their positionality privilege and power both historically and currently impacts their meaning making and understanding of STEM consequences Electronic Performance Support Using Digital Technology to Enhance Human Ability reminds everyone involved in education training human performance engineering and related fields of the enormous importance of this area Ironically the more complex technology becomes the more performance support may be needed and that's why the extraordinary expertise shared in this book is especially valuable The authors emphasize the psychological aspects of performance support the fundamental limitations of human memory perception cognition conation and psychomotor skills and how they can be reduced through electronic performance support as one of the most important pursuits of this century Readers will find the material presented extremely useful because of its generic basis which underlines much of the contemporary use of electronic technology for supporting people who are engaged in problem solving activities At the same time the book gives examples of the application of electronic performance support in a number of specific domains Possible future developments for electronic performance support are also discussed The technological challenges we face today both globally and locally are more urgent than most people seem willing to acknowledge and there is no time to waste putting the ideas expressed in this book into action
