

Model 2 – Random Sampling Method

- a. According to Model 2, what is the probability of selecting a red item in a random draw out of the bag?

The probability of selecting a red item in a random draw out of this bag is 50% (0.5).

- b. Suppose you draw a blue item. How does that in itself change the probability of selecting a red item in a second draw?

The probability of selecting a red item is determined by using replacement, not by adding one item to the bag. If you draw a blue item, you should be more optimistic to find the probability of getting a red item will get better (being 1 that out whether you get red or blue item being equal to 10).
