

What is a volcano ?

Volcanoes are openings in the surface of the Earth from which gas and hot molten, or liquid, rock escape and cover the surrounding land. Some volcanoes are deep cracks inside the Earth crust. Others look like cone shaped mountains made out of lava, ash and rock with a hole in the top. The hole is called the vent. The temperature near the Earth's core is so high that the rocks are in a molten form. While the molten rock is inside the Earth it is known as magma. When a volcano erupts the magma forces its way up the vent and escapes on to the Earth's surface, it is called lava. As lava flows, it cools and hardens. The hardened lava, as well as ash and cinders from the volcano pile up around the vent to create the cone.

A cross section through a volcano. The more often a volcano erupts the wider the central vent becomes until eventually it forms a crater.

When a volcano erupts, it usually hurls out clouds of ash and gas, rocks and lava. These large lumps are called volcanic bombs

Mastering Sixth Grade Skills-Canadian Jodene Smith, 2007-03 Segregation by Experience Jennifer Keys Adair, Kiyomi Sánchez-Suzuki Colegrove, 2021-05-03 Early childhood can be a time of rich discovery a period when educators have an opportunity to harness their students fascination to create unique learning opportunities Some teachers engage with their students ideas in ways that make learning collaborative but not all students have access to these kinds of learning environments In Segregation by Experience the authors filmed and studied a first grade classroom led by a Black immigrant teacher who encouraged her diverse group of students to exercise their agency When the researchers showed the film to other schools everyone struggled Educators admired the teacher but didn't think her practices would work with their own Black and brown students Parents of color many of them immigrants liked many of the practices but worried that they would compromise their children And the young children who viewed the film thought that the kids in the film were terrible loud and badly behaved they told the authors that learning was supposed to be quiet still and obedient In Segregation by Experience Jennifer Keys Adair and Kiyomi Sánchez-Suzuki Colegrove show us just how much our expectations of children of color affect what and how they learn at school and they ask us to consider which children get to have sophisticated dynamic learning experiences at school and which children are denied such experiences because of our continued racist assumptions about them Resources in Education, 1996
