Hanoi's War Lien-Hang T. Nguyen, 2012-07-15 While most historians of the Vietnam War focus on the origins of U.S. involvement and the Americanization of the conflict Lien-Hang T. Nguyen examines the international context in which North Vietnamese leaders pursued the war and American intervention ended. This riveting narrative takes the reader from the marshy swamps of the Mekong Delta to the bomb-saturated Red River Delta from the corridors of power in Hanoi and Saigon to the Nixon White House and from the peace negotiations in Paris to high level meetings in Beijing and Moscow all to reveal that peace never had a chance in Vietnam Hanoi's War renders transparent the internal workings of America's most elusive enemy during the Cold War and shows that the war fought during the peace negotiations was bloodier and much more wide ranging than it had been previously Using never before seen archival materials from the Vietnam Ministry of Foreign Affairs as well as materials from other archives around the world Nguyen explores the politics of war making and peace making not only from the North Vietnamese perspective but also from that of South Vietnam the Soviet Union China and the United States presenting a uniquely international portrait Post-Conflict Justice M. Cherif Bassiouni, 2021-10-01 Thirty scholars and experts discuss and provide wide ranging views on a variety of accountability measures the establishment of ad hoc criminal tribunals for the Former Yugoslavia and Rwanda truth commissions in South Africa and El Salvador and lustration laws for the former Czechoslovakia and Germany after its reunification Also discussed are amnesty for previous crimes and accountability post conflict justice involving issues pertaining to the restoration of law and order and the rebuilding of failed national justice systems In addition the book also contains an important set of guidelines designed to achieve accountability and eliminate impunity The guidelines with commentaries have been prepared by a distinguished group of experts many of whom have also contributed articles to this volume Published under the Transnational Publishers imprint Congressional Record United States. Congress, 2002 The Congressional Record is the official record of the proceedings and debates of the United States Congress It is published daily when Congress is in session The Congressional Record began publication in 1873 Debates for sessions prior to 1873 are recorded in The Debates and Proceedings in the Congress of the United States 1789 1824 the Register of Debates in Congress 1824 1837 and the Congressional Globe 1833 1873 World History: Connections to Today Elisabeth Gaynor Ellis, Pearson/Prentice Hall, 2003-12 On the Importance of a Long-term Approach to Peace Processes Anna Scheithauer, 2017-01-04 Essay from the year 2011 in the subject Politics General and Theories of International Politics grade 1 University of Vienna Politikwissenschaft language English abstract This paper is set out to give a possible account of why so many peace processes concerning intra state ethnic conflicts have produced no war no peace situations hence states of negative peace where risks for resumed fightings are high rather than an actual resolution fostering mutual understanding and recognition involving society at large The first section of this assignment is designed to point out the necessity to resolve conflicts by peaceful means as well as of conflict transformation and thereby deals with the wide spread assumption first introduced by Zartman that conflicts require a ripe moment as the ideal entry point for eg mediators to reach a peace agreement among the belligerents which I have argued only leads to a peace settlement and thus more often to a flawed peace than to the conflict's resolution John Paul Lederach's approach of cultivating peace and Ramsbotham's ideas of conflict transformation both stressing the cruciality of a long term approach to peace processes have underlined my argumentation

The second part then explores the fundamentals of the social psychological aspects of ethnic conflicts reflected upon so well by Herbert Kelman who builds upon Burton's research concerning the dimension of deep rooted conflicts as ethical conflicts usually can be described emphasising human needs and fears over interests since they can be seen as the root cause for the inadequacy of Zartman's theory of the ripe moment. Moreover the concept of work shops designed by Kelman as a feature of track II diplomacy in conflict resolution shall serve as a successful example for an alternative in a long term approach to peace processes. Altogether it is to notice that the paper is based on the constructivist assumption of the ethnic concept in contrast to the primordialist thought. Furthermore Zartman's ripe moment should not in anyway be discredited in its contribution to conflict resolution as it can serve as a valuable turning point. However it should not be seen as the solution but rather as an initial accompanying step in a long term process that is essential for a sustainable peace. Finally when taking these considerations in mind the core element needed in addition for a successful peace process is political and societal will in order to really overcome no war no peace situations on the long term.

Promoting Peace, Inciting Violence Jolyon Mitchell, 2013-01-04 This book explores how media and religion combine to play a role in promoting peace and inciting violence. It analyses a wide range of media from posters, cartoons and stained glass to websites, radio and film and draws on diverse examples from around the world including Iran, Rwanda and South Africa. Part One considers how various media forms can contribute to the creation of violent environments by memorialising past hurts by instilling fear of the other by encouraging audiences to fight to die or to kill neighbours for an apparently greater good. Part Two explores how film can bear witness to past acts of violence, how film makers can reveal the search for truth, justice and reconciliation and how new media can become sites for non violent responses to terrorism and government oppression. To what extent can popular media arts contribute to imagining and building peace transforming weapons into art, swords into ploughshares. Jolyon Mitchell skillfully combines personal narrative, practical insight and academic analysis.

Africa and the Responsibility to Protect Dan Kuwali, Frans Viljoen, 2013-11-26 Situations of serious or massive violations of human rights are no longer purely of domestic concern and sovereignty can no longer be an absolute shield for repressive governments in such circumstances. Based on this realization the international community has recognized a responsibility to protect individuals in states where their governments are unable or unwilling to provide protection against the most serious violations. However so far only one intergovernmental organization the African Union AU has explicitly made the right to intervene in a Member State part of its foundational text in Article 4 h of its Constitutive Act. Although there have been cases of Article 4 h type interventions in Africa the AU

Assembly has not yet invoked Article 4 h explicitly This book brings together experts in the field to explore the potential application of Article 4 h and the complexities that may explain its non invocation so far Although Article 4 h is noble in purpose its implementation faces several legal and policy challenges given that the use of force penetrates the principles of state sovereignty and non intervention the very cornerstones upon which the AU is founded This book considers these issues as well as the need to reconcile Article 4 h in so far as it allows the AU to exercise military intervention to protect populations at risk of mass atrocities with the provisions of the Charter of the United Nations Drawing from the insights of law political science diplomacy and military strategy the book offers a unique combination of multi disciplinary expertise that harnesses the views of a diverse group of authors focused on the legal policy and practical insights on the implementation of Article 4 h and the responsibility to protect in Africa in order to provide concrete recommendations on how to end mass atrocities on the continent

States since the Cold War ended is doomed to fail It makes far more sense he maintains for Washington to adopt a more restrained foreign policy based on a sound understanding of how nationalism and realism constrain great powers abroad The Great Delusion is a lucid and compelling work of the first importance for scholars policymakers and everyone interested in the future of American foreign policy     Push Back Judith Large,2016-12-15 In 2009 after decades of conflict the Sri Lankan government proclaimed the decisive defeat of the Liberation Tamil Tigers of Elam Subsequently the state proved resistant to attempts by the UN and other international bodies to promote post war reconciliation or reform In this incisive new work Judith Large investigates the ways in which the Rajapaksa government was able to subvert international diplomatic efforts as well as exploring the wider context of rising Sinhalese nationalism the attendant growth of discrimination against minorities and efforts by both the diaspora and citizens within Sri Lanka to work towards a positive peace Push Back is vital reading not only for those interested in Sri Lanka but also for those concerned about the wider implications of the conflict for human rights peace making and geopolitics     Post-Conflict Referendums and Peace Processes Kentaro Fujikawa,2024-12-10 This book provides a comparative study of the impact of referendums on conflict resolution and peacebuilding in post conflict societies Post conflict referendums have increasingly been held as part of peace processes While policy makers are hopeful that these referendums serve peace and democracy the burgeoning literature on them has expressed significant reservations about their use particularly on territorial issues because referendums do not have mechanisms for compromise To gauge the actual impact of these referendums on peace processes the book systematically compares three post conflict referendums on self determination held with their respective central governments consent in Eritrea East Timor and Southern Sudan Relying on more than 70 elite interviews it examines 1 the rationales behind the decision to hold referendums 2 the referendums impact on resolving the original self determination conflicts and 3 their impact on post conflict peacebuilding inside the newly independent states The three case studies reveal various rationales behind such referendums and show that referendums play a limited albeit positive role in settling the original conflicts Furthermore holding referendums after civil wars has various positive negative and often unexpected impacts on domestic and international peacebuilding efforts inside newly independent states This book provides careful thorough and well balanced accounts of these referendums impact on peace processes This book will be of much interest to students of peace and conflict studies African and South East Asian politics and International Relations Chapter 1 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license     The Mediation Dilemma Kyle Beardsley,2011-09-15 Mediation has become a common technique for terminating violent conflicts both within and between states while mediation has a strong record in reducing hostilities it is not without its own problems In The Mediation Dilemma Kyle Beardsley highlights its long term limitations The result of this oft superficial approach to peacemaking immediate and reassuring as it may be is often a fragile peace With the intervention of a third party mediator warring parties may formally agree to concessions that are insupportable in the long term and soon enough find themselves at odds again Beardsley examines his argument empirically using two data sets and traces it through several historical cases Henry Kissinger's and Jimmy Carter's initiatives in the Middle East 1973-1979 Theodore Roosevelt's 1905 mediation in the Russo Japanese War and Carter's attempt to mediate in the 1994 North Korean nuclear crisis He also draws upon the lessons of the 1993 Arusha Accords the 1993 Oslo Accords Haiti in 1994 the 2002 Ceasefire Agreement in Sri Lanka and the 2005 Memorandum of Understanding in Aceh Beardsley concludes that a reliance on mediation risks a greater chance of conflict relapse in the future whereas the rejection of mediation risks ongoing bloodshed as war continues The trade off between mediation's short term and long term effects is stark when the third party mediator adopts heavy handed forms of leverage and Beardsley finds multiple mediators and intergovernmental organizations also do relatively poorly in securing long term peace He finds that mediation has the greatest opportunity to foster both short term and long term peace when a single third party mediates among belligerents that can afford to wait for a self enforcing arrangement to be reached
