

Question 4:

Poor rural labourers like Thulasi often do not have access to good medical facilities, good schools, and other resources. You have read about inequality in the first unit of this text. The difference between her and Ramalingam is one of inequality. Do you think this is a fair situation? What do you think can be done? Discuss in class.

Solution 4:

In our country like India our constitution says everybody is having the equality of getting the medical facility, good schools and other resources. The difference between her and Ramalingam is showing the inequality of getting the facilities. It is actually a duty of government to provide the basic facilities to all the people. Loan can be provided.

Question 5:

What do you think the government can do to help farmers like Sekar when they get into debt? Discuss.

Solution 5:

The government can help in the following ways:

- The cultivation can be insured.
- Free farming schools
- Subsidy of fertilizers and pesticides
- Low interest loans

Question 6:

Compare the situation of Sekar and Ramalingam by filling out the following table:

Congress. Senate. Labor and Public Welfare, 1966 Pursuing Social Justice Agendas in Caribbean Higher Education Talia R. Esnard, 2024-09-05 This book offers a treatment of social justice and higher education within small island developing states like the Caribbean. This is a timely exploration of some of the global local structure actor policy practice debates that connect directly to the promise and the challenges of pursuing social justice agendas within and beyond Caribbean institutions of higher education. In this book the key points of examination are the i changing patterns within the global higher education landscape emerging mandates for university systems ii the perspectives and challenges for diverse student and staff populations and iii the ways in which these collectively impact social justice agendas within institutions of higher education. The contextualization and politicization of these issues within the broader discourse of small island developing states deepens the understanding of the prospects and challenges of addressing social injustices within the contemporary landscape but with some re engagement of existing conceptions and theorizations related to inclusivity diversity equity ontology coloniality postcolonial and critical race theory to inform how actors within these institutions can strategically respond.
