Singh,M. Fiorentino,2013-03-09 The last few years have witnessed an enormous interest in application of GIS in hydrology and water resources This is partly evidenced by organization of sev eral national and international symposia or conferences under the sponsorship of various professional organizations This increased interest is in a large measure in response to growing public sensitivity to environmental quality and management The GIS technology has the ability to capture store manipulate analyze and visualize the diverse sets of geo referenced data On the other hand hydrology is inherently spatial and distributed hydrologic models have large data requirements The integration of hydrology and GIS is therefore quite natural The integration involves three major components 1 spatial data construction 2 integration of spatial model layers and 3 GIS and model interface GIS can assist in design calibration modification and comparison of models This integration is spreading worldwide and is expected to accelerate in the foreseeable future Substantial op portunities exist in integration of GIS and hydrology We believe there are enough challenges in use of GIS for conceptualizing and modeling complex hydrologic processes and for globalization of hydrology The motivation for this book grew out of the desire to provide under one cover a range of applications of GIS tech nology in hydrology It is hoped that the book will stimulate others to write more comprehensive texts on this subject of growing importance
