Systems for State Science Assessment National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Center for Education, Board on Testing and Assessment, Committee on Test Design for K-12 Science Achievement, 2006-01-28 In response to the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 NCLB Systems for State Science Assessment explores the ideas and tools that are needed to assess science learning at the state level This book provides a detailed examination of K 12 science assessment looking specifically at what should be measured and how to measure it Along with reading and mathematics the testing of science is a key component of NCLB it is part of the national effort to establish challenging academic content standards and develop the tools to measure student progress toward higher achievement The book will be a critical resource for states that are designing and implementing science assessments to meet the 2007 2008 requirements of NCLB In addition to offering important information for states Systems for State Science Assessment provides policy makers local schools teachers scientists and parents with a broad view of the role of testing and assessment in science education

Assessment of the Scientific Information for the Radiation Exposure Screening and Education Program National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Radiation Effects Research, Committee to Assess the Scientific Information for the Radiation Exposure Screening and Education Program, 2005-09-01 The Radiation Exposure Compensation Act RECA was set up by Congress in 1990 to compensate people who have been diagnosed with specified cancers and chronic diseases that could have resulted from exposure to nuclear weapons tests at various U S test sites Eligible claimants include civilian onsite participants downwinders who lived in areas currently designated by RECA and uranium workers and ore transporters who meet specified residence or exposure criteria The Health Resources and Services Administration HRSA which oversees the screening education and referral services program for RECA populations asked the National Academies to review its program and assess whether new scientific information could be used to improve its program and determine if additional populations or geographic areas should be covered under RECA The report recommends Congress should establish a new science based process using a method called probability of causation assigned share PC AS to determine eligibility for compensation Because fallout may have been higher for people outside RECA designated areas the new PC AS process should apply to all residents of the continental US Alaska Hawaii and overseas US territories who have been diagnosed with specific RECA compensable diseases and who may have been exposed even in utero to radiation from U S nuclear weapons testing fallout However because the risks of radiation induced disease are generally low at the exposure levels of concern in RECA populations in most cases it is unlikely that exposure to radioactive fallout was a substantial contributing cause of cancer

SAGE Handbook of Research on Classroom Assessment James H. McMillan, 2013 The Sage Handbook of Research on Classroom Assessment provides scholars professors graduate students and other researchers and policy makers in the organizations agencies testing companies and school districts with a comprehensive source of research on all aspects of K 12 classroom assessment The handbook emphasizes theory conceptual frameworks and all varieties of research quantitative qualitative mixed methods to provide an in depth understanding of the knowledge base in each area of classroom assessment and how to conduct inquiry in the area It presents classroom assessment research to convey in depth the state of knowledge and understanding that is represented by the research with particular emphasis on how classroom assessment practices affect student achievement and teacher behavior Editor James H McMillan and five Associate Editors bring the best thinking and analysis from leading classroom assessment researchers on the nature of the research making significant contributions to this prominent and hotly debated topic in education

An Assessment of Undersea Weapons Science and Technology National Research Council, Commission on Physical Sciences, Mathematics, and Applications, Naval Studies Board, Committee for Undersea Weapons Science and Technology, 2000-07-09 The Department of the Navy strives to maintain through its Office of Naval Research ONR a vigorous science and technology S T program in those areas considered critically important to U S naval superiority in the maritime environment including littoral waters and shore regions. In pursuing its S T investments in such areas ONR must ensure that 1 a robust U S research capability to work on long term S T problems in areas of interest to the Department of the Navy and the Department of Defense is sustained 2 an adequate supply of new scientists and engineers in these areas is maintained and 3 S T products and processes necessary to ensure future superiority in naval warfare are provided. One of the critical areas for the Department of the Navy is undersea weapons. An Assessment of Undersea Weapons Science and Technology assesses the health of the existing Navy program in undersea weapons, evaluates the Navy's research effort to develop the capabilities needed for future undersea weapons, identifies non Navy sponsored research and development efforts that might facilitate the development of such advanced weapons capabilities and makes recommendations to focus the Navy's research program so that it can meet future needs.
