The Intermarium Jonathan Levy, 2007-06 Pub_AbstractText This thesis proposes an alternative governance structure for east central Europe the Intermarium The Intermarium is based on the development of a supplementary federal structure capable of controlling factionalism and nationalism utilizing concepts from James Madison's Tenth Federalist In particular James Madison's approach to mitigating and preventing the formation of dangerous factions is found to be compatible with preexisting notions of federalism in east central Europe and offers a potential regional political solution that merits further study In reaching the above proposal the concepts of Wilsonian national self determination Pan European federalism

functionalism and historical east central European variants of federalism are explored along with their leading personalities At the author s request over 100 previously unknown documents were declassified by a variety of intelligence agencies including the CIA Army Counterintelligence and FBI In addition three lengthy interviews were conducted with former American intelligence agent William Gowen who in 1947 and 1948 investigated and worked with several of the organizations and individuals profiled The tragic history of east central Europe in the 20th Century consisted of bloody ethnic conflict foreign invasion and occupation with the lingering effects still evident today While there is persuasive authority to suggest that the future for east central Europe is one of harmonious relations liberal democracy and economic prosperity other forecasts predict decades yet of bloody conflict as the Russian Federation and its borderlands resolve rivalries fueled by national self determination and irredentism By developing a federal alternative to the European Union to be know popularly as the Intermarium east central Europe might effectively pool its resources and meet the foreign relations and security challenges unique to the region rather than relying upon far away Brussels in the event of a crisis Regional federation as exemplified by east central Europe s unique heritage may prove to be just the bridging mechanism needed to accelerate the goal of Pan Europe or provide a safe harbor from conflict in the event of the EU s inability to address future crises

Building Defence Capacity in Europe The International Institute for Strategic Studies (IISS),2025-02-12 European states have embarked on the long road to rebuilding their defence capabilities After decades of underinvestment in the armed forces and the defence industrial base the challenges are significant However since Russia s full scale invasion of Ukraine in February 2022 NATO countries have committed to ambitious readiness and war fighting plans Against this background this IISS Strategic Dossier evaluates key areas for building defence capabilities in Europe including recent developments in the transatlantic defence ecosystem defence spending defence industrial production capacity building more resilient forces and improving supply chain security Europe s ability to meet its NATO commitments will depend on the degree to which it manages to address these important issues The analysis covers the trend of increased defence spending by most European NATO members and the growth in defence production capacity in important capability areas It also provides insights into the ways in which various European countries have sought to address their recruitment and retention challenges The volume discusses other ongoing challenges including uncertainty over the long term affordability sustainability and effectiveness of increased defence spending in Europe In addition the dossier highlights the requirement for long term government investment as well as firm demand signals in order to sustain increased defence production This IISS Strategic Dossier was produced in the context of the IISS Prague Defence Summit PDS 2024 which has been supported by the government of the Czech Republic
