War Police And Assemblages Of Intervention Interventions:

War, Police and Assemblages of Intervention Jan Bachmann, Colleen Bell, Caroline Holmqvist, 2014-11-13 This book reflects on the way in which war and police policing intersect in contemporary Western led interventions in the global South. The volume combines empirically oriented work with ground breaking theoretical insights and aims to collect for the first time thoughts on how war and policing converge, amalgamate, diffuse and dissolve in the context both of actual international intervention and in understandings thereof. The book uses the caption WAR POLICE to highlight the distinctiveness of this volume in presenting a variety of approaches that share a concern for the assemblage of war police as a whole. The volume thus serves to bring together critical perspectives on liberal interventionism where the logics of war and police policing blur and bleed into a complex assemblage of WAR POLICE. Contributions to this volume offer an understanding of police as a technique of ordering and collectively take issue with accounts of the character of contemporary war that argue that war is simply reduced to policing. In contrast, the contributions show how both historically and conceptually the two are always already connected. Contributions to this volume come from a variety of disciplines including international relations, war studies, geography, anthropology and law, but share a critical poststructuralist approach to the study of international intervention, war and policing. This volume will be useful to students and scholars who have an interest in social theories on intervention, war, security and the making of international order.

Reforming 21st Century Peacekeeping Operations

Marc. G. Doucet, 2017-07-06 This book considers contemporary international interventions with a specific focus on analyzing the frameworks that have guided recent peacekeeping operations led by the United Nations. Drawing from the work of Michel Foucault and Foucauldian inspired approaches in the field of International Relations, it highlights how interventions can be viewed through the lens of governmentality and its key attendant concepts. The book draws from these approaches in order to explore how international interventions are increasingly informed by governmental rationalities of security and policing. Two specific cases are examined: the UN's Security Sector Reform (SSR) approach and the UN's Protection of Civilians agenda. Focusing on the governmental rationalities that are at work in these two central frameworks that have come to guide contemporary UN led peacekeeping efforts in recent years, the book considers the use in IR of governmentality and its attendant notions of biopower and sovereign power. The recent discussion regarding the concept and practice of international policing and police reform, the rise of security as a rationality of government and the manner in which security and police rationalities interconnect and have increasingly come to inform peacekeeping efforts, the Security Sector Reform (SSR) framework for peacebuilding and the rise of the UN's Protection of Civilians agenda. This book will be of interest to graduates and scholars of international relations, security studies, critical theory and conflict and intervention.

Civil-Military

Relations in International Interventions Karsten Friis, 2020-02-13 This book examines military and civilian actors in international interventions and offers a new analytical framework to apply on such interventions. While it is frequently claimed that success in international interventions hinges largely on military civilian coherence cooperation has proven challenging to achieve in practice This book examines why this is the case by analysing various approaches employed by military and civilian actors and discussing the different relationships between the intervening actors and those upon whom they have intervened The work analyses different military concepts such as peacekeeping and counterinsurgency and the often troubled relationship between the humanitarian and military intervening actors It presents a new analytical framework to examine these relationships based on identification theory which illuminates how the interveners represent those they have been deployed to engage as well as their own identity and role As such the book offers an enhanced understanding of the challenges related to civil military cooperation in international interventions as well as a theoretical contribution to the study of interventions more generally This book will be of much interest to students of international interventions military studies peacekeeping security studies and International Relations The War on the Social Factory Annie

Paradise, 2024-04-15 A collective ethnography of grassroots mobilizations for community safety across the Silicon Valley This is a narrative of struggle and solidarity and a collective toolkit for grassroots opposition to militarization policing and ongoing conditions of war in the current conjuncture of racial patriarchal capitalism Grassroots researcher Annie Paradise presents here a collective ethnography of the mothers and community matriarchs whose children have been murdered by police across the San Francisco Bay Area as they develop and practice autonomous creative forms of resistance The War on the Social Factory The Struggle for Community Safety in the Silicon Valley maps local families struggles to reclaim their households and their communities to create a social infrastructure of care justice and safety outside state and market determined modes of security Practices such as sustained vigil testimony and the production and circulation of insurgent knowledges are shown here to be part of interconnected justice efforts to demilitarize and decarcerate communities in the face of the multiple forms of violence enacted under late racial patriarchal capitalism Paradise examines the expanding carceral processes of enclosure criminalization dispossession expropriation and disposability that mark the neoliberal security regime across the Silicon Valley and offers counter counterinsurgent strategies and practices of co generative dynamic resistance

War-Making as Worldmaking Samar Al-Bulushi, 2024-11-12 Since Kenya s invasion of Somalia in 2011 the Kenyan state has been engaged in direct combat with the Somali militant group Al Shabaab conducting airstrikes in southern Somalia and deploying heavy handed police tactics at home As the hunt for suspects has expanded within Kenya Kenyan Muslims have been subject to disappearances and extrajudicial killings at the hands of U S trained Kenyan police War Making as Worldmaking explores the entanglement of militarism imperialism and liberal democratic governance in East Africa today Samar Al Bulushi argues that Kenya s emergence as a key player in the War on Terror is closely linked but not reducible to the U S military s growing proclivity to outsource the labor of war Attending to the cultural politics of security Al Bulushi illustrates that the war against Al Shabaab has become a means to produce new fantasies emotions and subjectivities about Kenya's place in the world. Meanwhile, Kenya's alignment with the U.S. provides cover for the criminalization and policing of the country's Muslim minority population. How is life lived in a place that is not understood to be a site of war yet is often experienced as such by its targets? This book weaves together multiple scales of analysis, asking what a view from East Africa can tell us about the shifting configurations and expansive geographies of post-9/11 imperial warfare.

Masquerades of War Christine Sylvester, 2015-05-22 This collection explores the concepts and practices of masquerade as they apply to concepts and practices of war. The contributors insist that masquerades are everyday aspects of the politics, praxis, and experiences of war while also discovering that finding masquerades and tracing how they work with war is hardly simple. With a range of theories, innovative methodologies, and contextual binoculars, masquerade emerges as a layered and complex phenomenon. It can appear as state deception, lie, or camouflage, as in the population-centric American warfare in Iraq that was sold as good for the local people or the hidden violence Russian military forces used on each other and on local men in Chechnya. Masquerade can also be part of a people's war logic, as exemplified by the Maoist movement in India. Yet masquerade can also be understood as a normal social mask that people don to foreground an identity or belief from one's cluttered repertoire in order to gain agency. Elements of masquerade can appear in texts that proclaim seemingly unequivocal positions while simultaneously yet subtly suggesting opposing positions. Masquerades of all kinds also seem ubiquitous in fieldwork research and in resistance movements in war zones. Perhaps masquerade, though, is ultimately the denial of death lurking behind the clarion call of security, a call that bolsters war by making militarized policing normal to secure populations from terrorists. These interpretations and others comprise Masquerades of War. This book will be of much interest to students of critical war studies, critical security, conflict studies, and IR in general. Researching the Inner Life of the African Peace and Security Architecture, 2021-09-06 This edited volume offers new insights into the inner life of the African Peace and Security Architecture (APSA) and introduces scholars of African security dynamics to innovative epistemological, conceptual, and methodological approaches. Based on intellectual openness and an interest in transdisciplinary perspectives, the volume challenges existing orthodoxies, poses new questions, and opens a discussion on actual research practice. Drawing on Global Studies and critical International Studies perspectives, the authors follow inductive approaches and let the empirical data enrich their theoretical frameworks and conceptual tools. In this endeavor, they focus on actors, practices, and narratives involved in African Peace and Security and move beyond the often Western-centric premises of research carried out within rigid disciplinary boundaries. Contributors are Michael Aebiy, Yvonne Akpasom, Katharina P. W. Doring, Ulf Engel, Fana Gebresenbet, Erda Linn, a Gelot, Amandine Gnangu, non Toni Haastrup, Jens Herpolsheimer, Alin Hilowle, Jamie Pring, Lilian Seffer, Thomas Kwasi Tieku, Antonia Witt, Dawit Yohannes Wondemagegnehu. Peacebuilding Paradigms Henry F. Carey, 2020-12-17 Peacebuilding is explained by combining interpretive frameworks, paradigms that have evolved from the subfields of international relations and comparative politics. Narrative Global Politics Naeem Inayatullah, Elizabeth Dauphinee, 2016-07-01 This volume harnesses the virtual explosion of narrative writing in contemporary academic international politics. It comprises a prologue, an epilogue, and sixteen chapters that both build upon and diversify the success of the 2011 volume Autobiographical International Relations. Here, as in that volume, academics place their narratives in the context of world politics, culture, and history. Contributors explore moments in their academic lives that are often inexpressible in the standard academic voice and which in turn require a different way of writing and knowing. They write in the belief that academic IR has already begun to benefit from a different kind of writing, a style that retrieves the 'I' and explicitly demonstrates its presence both within the world and within academic writing. By working within the overlap between theory, history, and autobiography, these chapters aim to increase the clarity, urgency, and meaningfulness of academic work. Highlighting the autoethnographic and autobiographic turn in critical international relations, this work will be of great interest to students and scholars in international relations, IR theory, and global politics.

The Oxford Handbook of International Security Alexandra Gheciu, William Curti Wohlforth, 2018 This Oxford Handbook is the definitive volume on the state of international security and the academic field of security studies. It provides a tour of the most innovative and exciting new areas of research as well as major developments in established lines of inquiry. It presents a comprehensive portrait of an exciting field with a distinctively forward-looking theme focusing on the question: what does it mean to think about the future of international security? The key assumption underpinning this volume is that all scholarly claims about international security, both normative and positive, have implications for the future. By examining international security to extract implications for the future, the volume provides clarity about the real meaning and practical implications for those involved in this field. Yet contributions to this volume are not exclusively forecasts or prognostications; and the volume reflects the fact that within the field of security studies there are diverse views on how to think about the future. Readers will find in this volume some of the most influential mainstream positivist voices in the field of international security as well as some of the best-known scholars representing various branches of critical thinking about security. The topics covered in the Handbook range from conventional international security themes such as arms control, alliances, and Great Power politics to new security issues such as global health, the roles of non-state actors, cyber security, and the power of visual representations in international security. The Oxford Handbooks of International Relations is a twelve-volume set of reference books offering authoritative and innovative engagements with the principal sub-fields of International Relations. The series as a whole is under the General Editorship of Christian Reus Smith of the University of Queensland and Duncan Snidal of the University of Oxford, with each volume edited by a distinguished pair of specialists in their respective fields. The series both surveys the broad terrain of International Relations scholarship and reshapes it, pushing each sub-field in challenging new directions. Following the example of the original Reus Smith and Snidal The Oxford Handbook of International Relations, each volume is organized around a strong central thematic by a pair of scholars drawn from alternative perspectives, reading its sub field in an entirely new way and pushing scholarship in challenging new directions

The Practice of Humanitarian Intervention Kai Koddenbrock, 2015-08-27 This book examines the practices in Western and local spheres of humanitarian intervention and shows how the divide between these spheres helps to perpetuate Western involvement Using the Democratic Republic of the Congo as a case study an object of Western intervention since colonial times this book scrutinizes the contemporary practice of humanitarian intervention from the inside It seeks to expose how humanitarian aid and peacekeeping works what obstacles they encounter and how they manage to retain their legitimacy By examining the relationship between the West and the DR Congo this volume asks why intervention continues to be so central for the relationship between Western and local spheres Why is it normal and self evident The main answer developed here is that the separation of these two spheres allows intervention to enjoy sufficient degrees of legitimacy to be sustained Owing to the contradictions that surface when juxtaposing the Western and Congolese spheres this book highlights how keeping them separate is key to sustaining intervention Bridging the divide between the liberal peace debate in International Relations and anthropologies of humanitarianism this volume thus presents an important contribution to taking both the legitimizing proclamations and local realities of intervention seriously The book will be of much interest to students of statebuilding peacebuilding peacekeeping anthropology research methods and IR in general

Interregionalism and the European Union Mario Telò, Louise Fawcett, Frederik Ponjaert, 2016-03-09 Is the EU isolated within the emergent multipolar world Concentrating on interregional relations and focussing on the European Union s EU evolving international role with regards to regional cooperation this innovative book collects a set of fresh empirical analyses of interregional ties binding the EU with its Eastern and Southern neighbourhood as well as with Asia Africa and the Americas The 25 leading authors from 5 continents have contributed original and diverse chapters and the book advances a novel theoretical post revisionist approach beyond both the Eurocentrism of Europe First perspectives as well as the Euroscepticism of those advocating to simply move Beyond Europe After a Foreword by A Acharya the book s five sections reflect the main drivers of EU interregional policies The European Union as a Sophisticated Laboratory of Regional and Interregional Cooperation with chapters by M Tel L Fawcett and T Risse De Facto Drivers of Regionalism F Ponjaert M Shu A Vallad o and C Jakobeit De Jure Drivers of Regionalism S Lavenex G Finizio C Jakobeit R Coman C Cocq S Teo L Shah Cognitive Drivers of Regionalism J R land E Fitriani S Stavridis S Kingah P Bacon and Instrumental Drivers of Regionalism B Delcourt C Olsson G M ller A Malamud P Seabra and L Fioramonti J Kostopoulos

The New Irish Studies Paige Reynolds, 2020-09-24 The New Irish Studies demonstrates how diverse critical approaches enable a richer understanding of contemporary Irish writing and culture The early decades of the twenty first century in Ireland and Northern Ireland have seen an astonishing rate of change one that reflects the common understanding of the contemporary as a moment of acceleration and flux This collection tracks how Irish writers have represented the peace and reconciliation process in Northern Ireland the consequences of the Celtic

Tiger economic boom in the Republic the waning influence of Catholicism the increased authority of diverse voices and an altered relationship with Europe The essays acknowledge the distinctiveness of contemporary Irish literature reflecting a sense that the local can shed light on the global even as they reach beyond the limited tropes that have long identified Irish literature The collection suggests routes forward for Irish Studies and unsettles presumptions about what constitutes an Irish classic
