rhetoric of their speeches and propaganda The See America First movement began in 1906 with the aim of protecting and promoting the landscapes of the American West In 1908 Gifford Pinchot and President Theodore Roosevelt hosted the White House Conservation Conference to promote the wise use of natural resources for generations of Americans In 1912 Pittsburgh's smoke investigation condemned the effects of coal smoke on the city's environment In World War II a massive propaganda effort mobilized millions of Americans to plant victory gardens to save resources for the war abroad While these may not seem like crucial moments for the American environmental movement this new history of American environmentalism shows that they are linked by patriotism The book offers a provoking critique of environmentalists' communication strategies and suggests patriotism as a persuasive hook for new ways to make environmental issues a national priority This original research should be of interest to scholars of environmental communication environmental history American history and environmental philosophy

Negotiating for Water Resources Andrea Haefner, 2016-10-04
 Over 90 per cent of the world population lives in countries that share a river basin with others Freshwater resources are scarce and different nations' actors and users compete for limited resources in transboundary river basins often conflicting with each other Water is a resource with no substitute it cannot be secured in sufficiently large quantities through long distance trade deals and due to the interconnectivity of the hydrological system the actions of one country in its water management have a direct bearing on the interests of neighbouring countries For instance in the Mekong River Basin current hydropower and navigation developments in certain countries impact on traditional sources of income such as fisheries and rice production in others These kinds of changes in water use have given rise to conflict between countries in that region and others but have also led in some cases to greater cooperation The past few decades have seen a number of new agreements about the sharing of river resources and cooperation between riparian states Negotiating for Water Resources explores the drivers of conflict and cooperation between states in transnational river basins Drawing on extensive fieldwork and interviews on the Mekong Danube and La Plata River Basins the book provides a three level analysis across three case studies including the regional framework EU ASEAN and Mercosur the River Basin Organisations ICPDR MRC and CIC and the micro level The key question of the book is To what extent do power asymmetries prevent or inhibit cooperation between riparian states over water resources This is linked to the question of how institutions contribute to mitigate competition for natural resources and how states interact in a multilateral arena Overall the book argues that cooperation in transboundary river basins is possible even where there are asymmetric power relations challenging realist assumptions about competition and conflict over resources

The US "Culture Wars" and the Anglo-American Special Relationship David G. Haglund, 2019-05-21 This book discusses culture and the origins of the Anglo American special relationship the AASR The bitter dispute between ethnic groups in the US from 1914-17 a period of time characterized as the culture wars laid the groundwork both for US intervention in the European balance of power in 1917 and for the creation of what would eventually become a lasting Anglo American alliance Specifically the vigorous assault on English civilization launched by two large ethnic groups in America the Irish Americans and the German Americans had the unintended effect of causing America's demographic majority at the time the English descended Americans to regard the prospect of an Anglo American alliance in an entirely new manner The author contemplates why the Anglo American great rapprochement of 1898 failed to generate the desired Anglo Saxon alliance in Britain and in so doing features theoretically informed inquiries into debates surrounding both the origins of the war in 1914 and the origins of the American intervention decision nearly three years later
