revisited by psychologists sociologists anthropologists and students of cultural studies In Freedom's Shade Anis Qidvāī, 2011 Appearing for the first time in English translation In Freedom's Shade is Anis Kidwai's moving personal memoir of the first two years of nascent India. It is an activist's record that reveals both the architecture of the violence during Partition as well as the efforts of ordinary citizens to bring the cycle of reprisal and retribution to a close. Beginning from the murder of her husband in October 1947 with a rare frankness sympathy and depth of insight Anis Kidwai tells the stories of the thousands who were driven away from their homelands in Delhi and its neighbouring areas by eviction or abduction or the threat of forced religious conversion. Of historical importance for its account of the activities of the Shanti Dal the recovery of abducted women and the history of Delhi In Freedom's Shade also has an equal contemporary relevance. In part a delineation of the roots of the afflictions that beset Indian society and in part prophetic about the plagues that were to come Anis Kidwai's testament is an enduring reminder that memory without truth is futile only when it serves the objective of reconciliation does it achieve meaning and significance Proceedings of the Eighth Annual International Conference

What is usually so-called must rather be termed Islamikaze a combination of Islam and kamikaze due to the phenomenological resemblance between the Japanese kamikaze who fought in the Pacific during World War II and the present-day Muslim terrorists. In addition to the religious social and psychological underpinnings of the phenomenon of Shahid martyr there is a rich array of historical precedents that have fixated this sort of terrorism with self-immolation dubbed self-sacrifice as a prominent feature of Islamic life The London and Paris
