

GENERAL

GR871 is a 10-speed gearbox consisting of a 5-speed main gearbox and planetary gearbox. The gearbox is of range type which means that the main gearbox has small gear steps and the planetary gear has a low speed and high speed range. When gearchanging, this first takes place through the gears of the main box with reduction in the planetary gear and then through the high range.

without any reduction in the planetary gear.

The main gearbox is synchronized in all forward gears and is changed manually with a gear lever. The planetary gearbox is disc synchronized and controlled with compressed air via solenoid valves which are activated with a switch on the gear lever knob.
