Reinventing the Warrior Matthias André Voigt, 2024-09-01 On February 27 1973 a group of roughly 300 armed Indigenous men women and children seized the tiny hamlet of Wounded Knee South Dakota at gunpoint took hostages barricaded themselves in the hilltop church and raised an upside down American flag Taking place at the site of the infamous massacre in 1890 the highly symbolic confrontation spearheaded by the American Indian Movement AIM ultimately evolved into a prolonged seventy one day armed standoff between law enforcement officers and modern day Indigenous warriors Among these warriors were Vietnam War veterans armed with Vietnam era equipment and weaponry By organizing in defense of the newly proclaimed Independent Oglala Nation the AIM activists at Wounded Knee linked their nationalist quest for sovereignty and self determination with a warrior masculinity they constructed from a mix of Indigenous cultures and contemporary cultural elements including the Black civil rights movement the counterculture of the 1960s and early 1970s and the antiwar movement As Matthias Andr Voigt shows the takeover of Wounded Knee was only one moment among many in the complex interplay between protest activism gender race and identity within AIM While AIM is widely recognized for its militancy and nationalism Reinventing the Warrior is the first major study to examine the gendered transformation of Indigenous men within the Red Power movement and the United States more generally AIM activists came to regard themselves like their ancestors before them as warriors fighting for their people their lands and their rights They sought to remasculinize their Indigenous identity in order to confront hegemonic masculinities and by implication colonialism itself By becoming more manly Indigenous men challenged the disempowering nature of white supremacy Voigt traces the story of the reinvention of Indigenous warriorhood from 1968 to the takeover of Wounded Knee in 1973 and beyond His trailblazing work explores why and how Indigenous men refashioned themselves as modern day warriors in their anticolonial nation building endeavor thereby remaking both self and society
