Way of the Lawless Max Brand,2021-02-19 Young Andrew Lanning lived in the small hushed world of his own thoughts He neither loved nor hated the people around him He simply did not see them His mother it was from her that he inherited the softer qualities of his mind and his face had left him a little stock of books And though Andy was by no means a reader he had at least picked up that dangerous equipment of fiction which enables a man to dodge reality and live in his dreams Those dreams had as little as possible to do with the daily routine of his life and certainly the handling of guns which his uncle enforced upon him was never a part of the future as Andy saw it It was now the late afternoon the alkali dust in the road was still in a white light but the temperature in the shop had dropped several degrees The horse of Buck Heath was shod and Andy was laying his tools away for the day when he heard the noise of an automobile with open muffler coming down the street He stepped to the door to watch and at that moment a big blue car trundled into view around the bend of the road The rear wheels struck a slide of sand and dust and skidded a girl cried out then the big machine gathered out of the cloud of dust and came toward Andy with a crackling like musketry and it was plain that it would leap through Martindale and away into the country beyond at a bound Andy could see now that it was a roadster low hung ponderous to keep the road Pat Gregg was leaving the saloon he was on his horse but he sat the saddle slanting and his head was turned to give the farewell word to several figures who bulged through the door of the saloon For that reason as well as because of the fumes in his brain he did not hear the coming of the automobile His friends from the saloon yelled a warning but he evidently thought it some jest as he waved his hand with a grin of appreciation The big car was coming rocking with its speed it was too late now to stop that flying mass of metal
