

5th Grade Graduation Speech

Good afternoon to everyone, and thank you for coming to Piney Branch Elementary's 5th grade graduation. This event marks the transition of these wonderful children onto the next step of their journey. Who knows if the future president of the United States is standing on this stage at this moment? Maybe you're watching the one to cure cancer, or invent the newest technological innovation smiling up here right now!

We, the faculty and staff at Piney Branch, have very mixed feelings about this event. On one hand, we are absolutely delighted to see these children smiling at you all, ready to face the future. On the other hand, we are sad to see them go. Many of us have known these children since their pre-kindergarten program days – that's seven years! We hope that you will all achieve great things, because we know you can. After all, some of you have spent seven years in our halls. We just ask that you never forget that you came from Piney Branch Elementary, and that you come by and visit us sometime when you're successful and loving your life. This is a home for you all, so please don't forget to keep us informed of the wonderful places you go to next!

This ceremony will recognize each child for their achievements. Many of them have scored consistently well on standardized testing, making this class one of the highest achieving in the entire state. Please give yourselves a round of applause. Children, please look at your parents and give them a round of applause to thank them for being here today and supporting you. We are truly very pleased and happy at your progress in elementary school, and on behalf of the faculty and staff of Piney Branch Elementary, I wish you all the best in your future endeavors.

Your Average Nigga Vershawn Ashanti Young,2007-03-01 An engrossing autobiographical exploration of black masculinity as a mode of racial and verbal performance In Your Average Nigga Vershawn Ashanti Young disputes the belief that speaking Standard English and giving up Black English Vernacular helps black students succeed academically Young argues that this assumption not only exaggerates the differences between two compatible varieties of English but forces black males to choose between an education and their masculinity by choosing to act either white or black As one would expect from a scholar who is subject to the very circumstances he studies Young shares his own experiences as he exposes the factors that make black racial identity irreconcilable with literacy for blacks especially black males Drawing on a range of interdisciplinary scholarship in performance theory and African American literary and cultural studies Young shows that the linguistic conflict that exists between black and white language styles harms black students from the inner city the most If these students choose to speak Standard English they risk alienating themselves from their families and communities and if they choose to retain their customary speech and behavior they may isolate themselves from mainstream society Young argues that this conflict leaves blacks in the impossible position of either trying to be white or forever struggling to prove that they are black enough For men this also becomes an endless struggle to prove that they are masculine enough Young calls this constant effort to display proper masculine and racial identity the burden of racial performance Ultimately Young argues that racial and verbal performances are a burden because they cannot reduce the causes or effects of racism nor can they denaturalize supposedly fixed identity categories as many theorists contend On the contrary racial and verbal performances only reinscribe the essentialism that they are believed to subvert Scholars and teachers of rhetoric performance studies and African American studies will enjoy this insightful volume
